The CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

A GRAPHIC HISTORY OF INDIANA UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Cover by: Jerrold Campbell '75

PREFACE

Centennial publications come in all types and sizes. The only certain thing is that every institution, upon completing one-hundred years, produces one. The History Committee for the Indiana University of Pennsylvania Centennial decided not to attempt a detailed written account, but rather to concentrate on a graphic presentation for more popular appeal. The scrapbook format seemed to fit this guideline. The objective was to select from the thousands of items available that material which could convey the essence of the campus, students and faculty during each era. At the same time, landmark events and significant individuals were not to be overlooked. Each reader will have to decide from his own perspective how successful this attempt has been.

The original concept for this publication was developed by Mrs. Judith Moorhead, Director of University Relations and Publications, who also served as coordinator in moving this production from imagination to reality.

Dr. George Wiley, professor of history and chairman of the Centennial History Committee, assumed responsibility for the immense task of material selection. Under his direction, members of the History Committee researched materials for specific eras which were then turned over to John Henry, the University's graphic artist, for composition. In addition, Dr. Wiley authored the historical sketches which appear on the divider pages of the book.

The distinctive feature of this work, the 168 separate page layouts, are the creations of Mr. Henry. Through his expertise and skill he has utilized clippings, sketches and photographs to recreate a feeling of what it was like to be at Indiana at any given time. This feeling developed in large part by the use of pictures of anonymous students in typical college settings — at least typical for their particular period.

Alumni contributed recollections of their college days, and these comments personalize many of the pages.

Several hands have worked with the material; this unfortunately increased the chances for inaccurate dating of sources and incorrect identification. Any embarrassment or annoyance caused to any individual is inadvertent and sincerely regretted.

Only by examining Indiana's past — in diaries, yearbooks, newspapers, official records, unofficial reflections — as it was lived year by year, decade by decade, can one truly appreciate the schools's first century of educational development. The Centennial History Committee feels that all who care about Indiana should participate with the Alumni Association in preserving this heritage. An immediate need is the commencement of an extensive oral history program, for almost twenty years of the institution's past is already silent forever. What could result from such a cooperative enterprise, by the use of tape recordings as well as written documents, would be extensive commentary on eighty past years — and those years still to come — by the people who lived them. The History Committee hopes this Centennial Scrapbook will be a stimulus in this direction.

An advertisement in the 1880's described the Indiana of 1867: "No paved sidewalks, no stone crossings, no paved streets, no gas lights, no water works, and no Normal School." In 1869 the project of a normal school was initiated, and on May 17, 1875, a ten-week term began in John Sutton Hall with a Miss Brooks of Allegheny High School the first young lady to select a room. "We feel confident," the Catalogue stated, "that there are no better opportunities to obtain a general business, and scientific, and liberal education." There was also the proud announcement that the main building was WARMED BY STEAM AND LIGHTED BY GAS THROUGHOUT. A reminder cautioned that students "shall not correspond, walk or ride with those of the opposite sex." Jane E. Leonard, whose name is synonymous with the institution's first half century, discussed these opening years in her history of the school (1888): "The Normal School law provided for no State appropriations. On more than one occasion the trustees had every dollar personally owned pledged for the honor of the school."

Indiana grew from 300 students in the 1870's to over 600 in the late 1880's, and of the 313 graduates all but eighteen had taught. The carnations, the roses, and particularly the oaks, growing in the grove, were the pride of the campus, but the students had a limited time to enjoy them. The December 12, 1881, Minutes of a faculty meeting reported that "each case of unexcused absence from church, Bible class, chapel, or recitations shall receive two demerits." Cases of delinquent students were frequently discussed for offenses of pillow fighting, staying out late, and visiting the pool hall. One student was in serious trouble for throwing gravel stones down the stairway during chapel. And even at this early date there were complaints about "the cooking."

The senior year pedagogics included "a thesis on a professional subject," but most of the alumni reported memories of Julius Caesar and geometry. The scientific class took a geological expedition to a coal mine. The social events for 1896–97 featured a young ladies' reception "with the boys finding enjoyment in dancing the quadrille"; a Washington's Birthday party complete with colonial tresses; and an old-fashioned Halloween with Professor Gordon taking free X-rays. The Athletic Association pointed with pride in the 1890's to a fine athletic field and new grandstands. The Normal baseball team "crossed bats with some of the best nines of Western Pennsylvania," with A. H. Stewart pitching to Sully Maize, catcher.

The Model School was erected in 1893: "The building contains eight large, airy classrooms, with ample play rooms in the basement for use on stormy days." A special committee of the Board had begun working on a larger water supply for the growing enrollment, and the last entry of the nineteenth century in the Board of Trustees' Minutes called for the construction of a new dining room and a laundry. Soon these facilities would become as much a part of student life as A. S. Patton's Ice Cream and Oyster Saloon.

CALENDAR.

WINTER TERM begins MONDAY, January 3rd.

Winter Term closes with a public Exhibition, Thursday evening, April 6th—April 5th and 6th being devoted to public examination.

Vacation of Ten Days.

MONDAY, April 17th, SPRING TERM begins.

ANNUAL EXAMINATION Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, July 17th to 19th inclusive.

MONDAY EVENING, July 17th Exhibition of "Hygeonian Society."

TUESDAY EVENING July 18th, Exhibition of the "Erodelphian Society."

WEDNESDAY EVENING, July 19th, Address before the Literary Societies.

THURSDAY, July 20th Closing Exercises.

MONDAY September 4th, FALL TERM begins.

BOOKS OF REFERENCE.

While the student will find many books of reference here, still it is advisable for him to bring such as he may have, that he may make personal and daily use of them. The habit of such use is of incalculable importance, and school life should ever minister to the formation of such habits as will lead to a successful life. Bring your books with you; place them where you can conveniently use them; and by their use form a habit, the value of which you can never overestimate.

MAKE FEW IF ANY VISITS AWAY FROM THE SCHOOL.

Success demands concentration of thought. This is prevented by frequent visits at home or elsewhere, and usually time thus spent subtracts materially from the progress of the student.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, INDIANA, PA.

The Science Department is provided with an outfit of excellent apparatus. Our equipment now includes many pieces of great value, and is continually being increased. The Laboratory has been completely refurnished. Work tables with room for each pupil have been introduced, and lecture chairs with tablet arms have replaced the benches.

"During the spring term and early fall bicycling and tennis find more devotees than any other branch of athletics . . . The girls, especially, enjoy the courts, for it is the one place where they can meet the young men of the school and play love-games without having to render an account to the faculty."

4. Any student to secure these benefits must attend the school at least one term of twelve consecutive weeks, and receive instruction in the Theory of Teaching. These benefits are to be deducted from the regular expenses of board and tuition.

Applicants will be particular to state whether they intend to become TEACHERS.

EXAMINATIONS.

The Examinations for Graduation are conducted by Faculty of the school and by a Board of Examiners.

The Faculty first examine the candidates for graduation, if satisfied with their qualifications, refer them to the Boa Examiners for further examination.

The Board of Examiners consists of the State Superinten of Common Schools, the Principal of the school at which examination is held, the Principal of some other Normal Sc designated by the State Superintendent and two County Su intendents of the Normal School district in which the scho located, also appointed by the State Superintendent.

The Board of Examiners will test the knowledge of the didates upon all the branches of study in the course in wh they are examined; special attention being given to the Science and Art of Teaching.

A Thesis upon some educational subject will be required as a part of the examination.

DIPLOMAS.

A student graduating in either course will receive a diploma, in which will be named the branches of that course, and which will confer upon him the degree of BACHELOR OF THE ELEMENTS, BACHELOR OF THE SCIENCES, or BACHELOR OF THE CLASSICS, according to the course in which he graduates.

A regular graduate, who has continued his studies for two years, and has practised his profession during two full annual terms in the Common Schools of the State, may receive, upon presenting to the Faculty and Board of Examiners a certificat of good moral character and skill in the Art of Teaching, fro the Board or Boards of Directors by whom he was employe countersigned by the proper County Superintendent, a seco

"There are many points of interest around Indiana that are generally known. The old paper mill, the tannery, several haunted houses, — one a station for old underground railway of war times — and White's woods and other woods equally beautiful."

Object of a Normal School.

The object for which a Normal School is established is pre-eminently the education and training of teachers. To fully accomplish this object, it must give thorough and systematic culture to all the faculties of the mind; accurate instruction in the various branches of learning; a complete knowledge of the principles and methods of human culture and instruction, and of organizing, managing, and governing a school; and an opportunity to make available for teaching purposes, under the supervision of well trained, experienced teachers, all the power developed and knowledge acquired in the class room.

But, as the best methods of instruction for teachers are also the best methods to be adopted in giving to all pupils clear conceptions and thorough knowledge of whatever branches of study they may wish to pursue, this Institution is open to all of proper age, whether they have teaching in view or not. It is confidently believed that there are no better opportunities to obtain a general business, scientific, or classical education, or to pursue studies preparatory to those that are strictly professional, than are offered at this Institution.

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

This Institution had its inception in the discussions of the Teachers' Institute which met at Indiana in the years 1869 and 1871. Once resolved upon, the idea of a Normal School at Indiana grew rapidly into a reality. Subscription books were opened, and such success attended the efforts of its friends, that ere long the best site in the whole vicinity, overlooking the town, was purchased, plans were adopted, estimates were made, contracts were consummated, and the

THE BUILDING AND GROUNDS.

THE BUILDING consists of three principal buildings connected by two others, the five having a total length of 564 feet, and the whole blending into one beautiful structure four stories high above the basement. The basement story is nine feet in height, and the other four stories range from eleven and a half to fourteen feet between floor and ceiling.

The building is warmed throughout by steam, thus securing the minimum of danger and work, and the maximum of time for exercise and study. The labor of carrying coal and ashes, of lighting 200 fires, the multiple danger of fire, and the necessary dirt and dust consequent thereon, are thus wholly avoided. But even in case of possible fire from unforeseen causes, by means of huge pipes on every floor, which are kept in constant readiness, the building can be instantaneously flooded with water.

Every part is well lighted and well ventilated; every floor is provided with hot and cold water, bath rooms, lavatories, and water closets. The students' rooms are completely furnished, and the ladies' rooms are carpeted. It has all needed accommodations for a school of 400 boarders, and is the best building of the kind in the United States.

The chapel; the dining hall, with the accompanying apartments; the model-school rooms; the library room; the reading-room; the Principal's rooms; the reception room; the parlor; the lecture and recitation rooms; the corridors; the apartments for the chemical laboratory; the private rooms for ...ored students—all are unusually well adapted to their respective

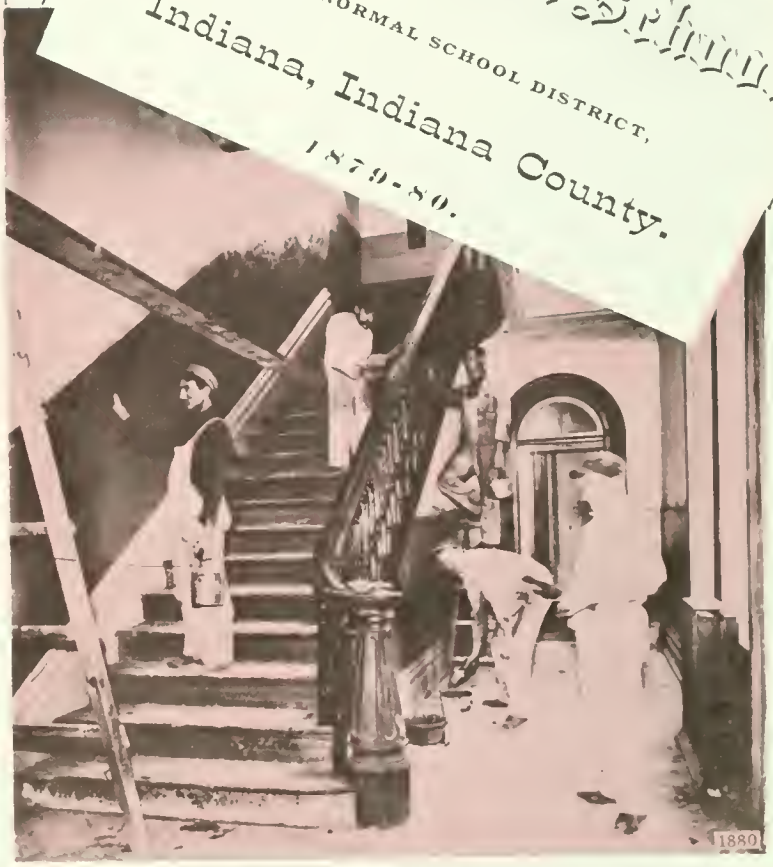
State Normal School
NINTH NORMAL SCHOOL DISTRICT,
Indiana, Indiana County.
1879-80.



"It has been charged that the State loses money by the early withdrawal of the lady graduates of the Normal Schools from the profession. The incorrectness of such a criticism may be seen from the following statement: The entire number of lady graduates (from Indiana) is 210; of these 5 are dead and 19 married, leaving a balance of 186 living and unmarried . . . 180 now teaching or attending school."

Examination of Practical Teachers.

The Normal School law makes it the duty of the State Board of Examiners to grant Diplomas or State certificates to actual teachers of common schools, without their having attended the Normal Schools as students, upon the following conditions:

1. The applicant must be twenty-one years of age, of good moral character, and must have taught successfully in the common schools of this State during three consecutive annual terms immediately preceding the examination. The proof of good moral character, and satisfactory teaching for the required time, must be a certificate from the proper Board or Boards of Directors, signed by the President and Secretary and countersigned by the proper Superintendent or Superintendents.

2. The examination may be in either the Regular or the Supplementary Course, as the applicant may elect according to the list of studies as printed in the circulars of the State Normal Schools and approved by the State Superintendent, or in such other studies as may, by the Board of Examiners, be deemed equivalent.

3. Each applicant is required to prepare and present to the State Board of Examiners an original thesis of not less than six folio pages of manuscript, on some professional subject, which thesis is to be retained at the school where the examination takes place.

4. The examination and certificate are without expense to the applicant, and the certificate is full evidence of qualification to teach the branches therein named, in any part of the State without further examination.

5. Practical teachers attending examinations at the State Normal Schools for the purpose of procuring State Certificates, are examined separately from the regular students, and both the State Board of Examiners and the faculty of the School at which the examination is held, take part in the examination, all being required to sign the certificate.

Expenses at Indiana.

There is an impression in the minds of some that Indiana is an expensive school. Those who are preparing for attendance at some school, but who have not fully made up their minds as to the school of their choice, sometimes say:

"We would prefer to go to Indiana, but it costs so much that we cannot afford it."

A comparison of our rates with those of rival schools will show very little difference.

Under the impression that it would be the fairest course to pursue, and the one that would give the greatest degree of satisfaction to our patrons, we have been accustomed to aggregate all expenses, except those for books and stationery, thus leaving no extra bills for room rent, washing, light, fuel, etc., to be sent when unexpected.

Those who desire to practice still further economy will find opportunity for self-boarding or club-boarding at as low rates as can be obtained anywhere.

Regulations.

SCHOOL WORK PARAMOUNT.

The legitimate work of the school-room is to be considered of paramount importance, and superior to all other demands that may be made upon the time and attention of the student. This, for the time being, is the occupation, and all arrangements are to be made accordingly, and carried out in the spirit of this regulation.

ASSOCIATION OF THE SEXES.

This Institution is intended to be, in all respects, a well-regulated home for all who attend it: a home in which they may become familiar with the usages of the best society. But while there are very good advantages that arise from the proper co-education of the sexes, special precautions are necessary to guard against all possible evil or scandal.

In the intercourse of the sexes, the utmost decorum is required, without, however, oppressive interference, or the hindrance of that mutual influence which is deemed so beneficial in the co-education of the sexes. Hence, while a due degree of intercourse is allowed in daily recitations and amusements, the bounds of strict propriety are never transgressed. The dormitories are as completely separated and guarded as though they were two distinct buildings.

The following regulations relating to the association of the sexes, will commend themselves to all, as necessary and wise:

1. Students shall not correspond, walk, or ride with those of the opposite sex; or meet them in the reception room, parlor, or elsewhere, except by special permission from the Principal and the Preceptress.

2. Ladies and gentlemen are expressly prohibited from entering the halls appropriated to each other's respective departments, without permission.

3. They are, on no condition, allowed to visit each other's private rooms, except in case of severe sickness, and then only in company with the Principal or Preceptress.

These regulations are deemed vital to the very exi… …he Institution.

BOXES OF CAKE AND OTHER FANCY EATABLES.

These can only work injury, and students are earnestly advised to make no arrangement for having them sent.

Successful brain work demands a vigorous and healthy digestion. Such a digestion demands plain food, eaten at proper times, and at no other time. Improper food, or food eaten at improper times, is the source of a very large proportion of all the headaches, and of those slight ailments which subtract so seriously from the success of many students.

Here we would sound a note of alarm, not only in the ears of students, but in those of parents as well, and we entreat you, as you value the health and true success of those that you entrust to our care, that you discountenance what is so fraught with evil.

ELEMENTARY COURSE.

A thorough knowledge of the branches taught in common schools, as required by law, including higher arithmetic and higher grammar ; also Geography.—Including the leading principles of Physical and Mathematical Geography.

Geometry.—Plane Geometry, including the circle.

NOTES OF INTEREST TO EVERYONE.

The crowd at Indiana Normal last week was perhaps the largest in the history of the institution. The contingent of visitors was made up of members of the alumni representing classes from the first year, 1876 to 1893; of parents and brothers and sisters of students and graduates, and of friends of the institution.

The chapel was beautifully decorated in evergreen and white bunting, the colors of the class of '94 being green and white. Over the rostrum, which was greatly increased in size to accommodate the large class, was the old English motto of '94, "Doe ye nexte thynge."

Wednesday afternoon was given over to "Class Day" exercises.

Shortly after 2 the orchestra burst forth into a march melody and the class entered in single file. The ladies wore white dresses and white hats and carried bunches of sweet peas; the gentlemen wore the conventional black frock suits.

The exercises effervesced with that humor and fun dear to the heart of every loyal school girl and boy and the audience was kept in a roar from start to finish.

COMMENCEMENT DAY.

Great Crowd Present to Witness the Graduation.

Commencement exercises were given on Thursday morning. Several hours before the time for beginning the large halls and verandas and the grove were alive with people eagerly waiting to witness the graduation exercises.

On behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the board of trustees of the Indiana Normal School of Pennsylvania, the principal, Dr. Waller, presented diplomas, conferring the degree of Bachelor in Elementary Didactics to the class.

Miss Charlotte Clark, who graduated in the music department was presented a diploma attesting her proficiency in that art.

After these exercises were over dinner was announced. Owing to the great crowd present it was impossible to seat all at once, so the graduating class, the Alumni and the guests were served first.

The class of '94 was seated at a long table down the center of the dining room. With them were the venerable A. W. Wilson, president of the board of trustees; Dr. William S. Owens, Judge Harry White and Hon. John P. Elkin. Their table was decorated in green and white bunting and sweet peas.

Hon. A. W. Kimmel, another trustee, carved the turkey at Dr. Waller's table and Senator G. W. Hood was also at that table. The secretary of the board, Thomas Sutton, Esq., and his wife were with the Preceptress, Miss Leonard.

The class of '93, the "Columbian Class," had a table gorgeous in red, white and blue, while '84 was just as resplendent under bunting of orange and black. The "Daisy Class" of 1892 had a noisy, good-looking representation at a table under gold and white. Poor '90 had a mishap. The beautiful drapery around its table had been burned and a large placard suspende

A critical study and interpretation of at least four standard English writers are made during the second term of this year. An attempt is made to make the English a valuable mental discipline, by leading the student to discover for himself from models of good writing what constitutes clearness, purity, strength, or felicity of style. Through the year his own writing is kept up; thus he is given actual practice in subduing the detailed requisites of expression until they become ready servants of his own thought.

During the last term, the class studies biographies of representative authors who have contributed to the historical development of our language, with the best criticism upon these authors, and the best passages from their works.

Advice to Prospective Students.

Come Early.

Success demands that you shall be here early. Tardiness in the commencement of a term, or irregularity of attendance after the commencement has been made, are very serious hindrances to success. Be here and ready for work on the very first day and very first hour of the term.

THE present is an age of specialists. Preparation fitting for special lines of work is required The teacher of the present is expected to do good work; but the teacher of the future must do better. Routine methods must give way to rational ones. The road notion that Teaching is causing a human being to act must be grasped and practiced. In this notion of teaching four elements appear: health, scholarship, power to teach, and character. In the ideal teacher there is a happy combination of all these elements.

The element with which the professional department has to deal is power to teach. We aim to quicken and develop this power by appropriate stimuli and training. To this end four lines of work are followed: 1. Know the child, the being to be educated. 2. Know the teacher, the being who educates. 3. Know nature, the being that quickens and stimulates. 4. Know the relations of child, teacher and nature. Out of the above grows the following c study from a professional standpoint: Physiology—A t uld have a practical knowledge of physiology and its ap- p s a b f health; Psychology, as a basis or mental t Scienc asis for quickening the mind; and Human basi tool management.

2. Receive calls in their rooms from visitors or students rooming out of the building, or permit any persons to spend the night in their rooms, without special permission from the Principal.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Students are not to :—

1. Use the main staircase in the center of the building, except by special permission.

2. Burn lights after 10 o'clock P. M., except in case of sickness.

3. Be out of the building after 10 o'clock P. M., under any circumstances, unless previous permission has been obtained from the Principal.

4. Make, or cause to be made, any fixture, improvement, repair, or alteration in their rooms, or the contents, except under the direction of the Steward.

Note.—The Steward visits each room weekly, that, if damaged, it may be repaired; or if the occupants have neglected to clean it, that it may be cleaned at their expense.

5. Exchange rooms, or transfer their rooms to others at any time, unless they have previously obtained permission from the Principal.

6. Remove any article of furniture from one room to another, without permission from the Steward.

7. Refuse to admit to their rooms any member of the Faculty.

EXCUSES.

1. Students desiring to be excused from a single recitation, and for a good and sufficient reason, may, if application be made before said recitation, be excused by the teacher in charge.

Normal School Studies

Prescribed by Law.

The Normal School Law of Pennsylvania provides that meetings of the Principals of the several Normal Schools, for the purpose of fixing upon a general course of study, shall be held at Harrisburg, from time to time, as may be deemed necessary.

In compliance with this provision of law, a meeting of the Normal School Principals was held at the rooms of the Superintendent of Public Instruction in the city of Harrisburg, January 27, 1880, at which meeting—all the Principals being present—several changes were made in the courses of study.

The revised courses are given below.

Our Model School.

A Normal School is a school especially designed for the preparation of teachers. It differs from an Academy or a school of preparation for college, in that everything is bent in the direction of fitting the student for the work of teaching. He is taught that he may teach others, and he should not only become skilled in the theory, but so far as practicable, he should become a trained artist. For this reason a department of practice is an essential feature of every thorough-going Normal School.

Our Model School is in charge of a most excellent practical teacher. The school corresponds in all particulars to one of the best graded city schools. In its course of study and plans of instruction, it is, as its name suggests, a model school.

Here the pupil-teachers, under the eye of the Superintendent, and after thorough instruction in the theory of teaching, proceed to put their theory into practice, and to test the solidity of their attainments. Here, through proper guidance, and friendly, yet unsparing criticism, an experience is gained of immeasurable value, both to the pupil teacher and his future patrons.

The pupils of this school are six to sixteen years of age. A limited number can be received from abroad.

The instruction is mainly done by the members of the Senior Class of the Normal School, under the general supervision of the Principal and a competent and experienced Superintendent.

The course of instruction comprises the usual branches taught in common schools, together with the elements of Natural Philosophy, Physiology, Chemistry, Botany, and Natural History.

"As I look back in contrast, or maybe only retrospection, students realized the instructor really knew more about the subject of study than they did . . . and that the added years of age surely had experiences for effective presentation of those ideas. As such the atmosphere was of deference and respect. Classrooms were in good order."

Courses of Instruction.

The Normal School Law provides for three distinct courses of study:—The Elementary Course, the Scientific Course, and the Classical Course.

ELEMENTARY COURSE.

The object of this course is the training of teachers for the Common Schools. It is as follows:

But believing that the best methods of instruction for teachers, are also the best methods to be adopted in giving to all pupils clear conceptions and thorough knowledge of whatever branches of study they may wish to pursue, the Institution is open to all of proper age, whether they have teaching in view or not. We feel confident that there are no better opportunities to obtain a general business, and scientific, and liberal education, or to pursue studies preparatory to those that strictly professional, than will be afforded at this Institution

LOCATION, BUILDINGS, &c.

Indiana is the county seat of Indiana County. It contains a population of about 3000. It is the terminus of the Indiana branch of the Pennsylvania Central Rail Road. The thorough sympathy of all its citizens with this Institution has been evinced, not only by the contribution of $60,000 for its establishment, but by the late contribution of about $3000, towards providing for it the completest apparatus for Chemistry and Physics, of any Normal School in the United States.

GOVERNMENT.

No association of individuals can exist and prosecute its work successfully without such regulations as clearly set forth the duties of the various individuals composing this association. These duties grow out of the various relations which the members of the association sustain to each other, and to the work in which they are engaged. The regulations should aim at the protection of the rights of all, and should never lose sight of the fact that the rights of a community must ever be paramount to those of the individual. The regulations should aim at giving the most complete liberty, not inconsistent with the highest good of all; and should forbid whatever is inconsistent therewith.

The Junior class has chosen Mr. T K. Saylor, president, and Miss Lida Highberger, secretary. Pale blue and old gold are their colors; their flower, golden rod.

The book room, first door north of the dining room, is still well patronized. Change of place and change of hands do not affect it. Prof. Gordon is manager.

The three music rooms next the laboratory have become a part of the laboratory, which has been remodeled and fitted for individual work in science.

Mr. McWhood, teacher of Greek and Latin last year in the Normal, is taking a post graduate course at Columbia College, his Alma Mater.

The office has been enlarged and improved. A telephone is the latest convenience that has been added

The natural mediums God has given us for the expression of thought are speech and gesture. It is right and proper, therefore, that these mediums should be thoroughly cultivated and developed, so that we may be able to express our thoughts, or those of the author, in a clear, forcible and intelligent manner. Along with the acquisition of thought or knowledge should be cultivated the power to express it.

The object of this department is to enable students to comprehend, to appreciate and to communicate thought in the most natural and effective manner.

Harry McCreary, of Indiana, Makes Initial Investment of $75,000 for a Rubber Factory in Town.

The 1900 Normal Herald reported that the library had been made a United States Depository; the concert by the Slayton Jubilee Singers drew a crowded house; and "the introduction of compulsory physical culture has met with far less opposition than was anticipated." The Junior Debate Contest for 1900 was "Should Cuba be Annexed to the United States?" The affirmative won.

In 1904 Leonard Hall had its ground breaking amid pleas of "save the maples." Soon a cement walk had been laid down Lovers' Lane connecting the hall with the railroad. The men's residence burned in February, 1906, with no injuries "because of excellent fire escapes." It was replaced on the same site in 1907 by Clark Hall. In that year the enrollment reached 1,000.

Prospective students were reminded in the Catalogue (1906) that "it pays to attend a school that is widely and favorably known. An Indiana diploma is a passport into the best positions of the state." In addition, "we bake all our own bread, all water is from our own wells, and ice cream is regularly served twice a week." The curriculum was expanded to include basketry — and the commercial department introduced a special bookkeeping course for use in the lumbering industry.

Athletics for both men and women were an important part of school life. The editor of the yearbook, INSTANO, wrote of the "unrestricted joy which comes to the wearer of the Red and White who fights with the never-die spirit for his good old alma mater." The baseball team of 1906 "is conceded by all to be the finest in the State, not excepting those in the National League." What else for a team with two wins over Kiski! The football team won the U. S. Normal Championship, three times scoring over 100 points. The girls' basketball team once downed Aliquippa, 36–0, at the New Auditorium, with Wassell scoring twelve goals. These events were highlighted by a world's record for the sixty-yard dash set by R. A. Carroll at the Middle Atlantic Championships.

Many students went to see John Blair in the lead role of "For Old Eli," but the real treat must have been the Normal Plectrum Sextet concert, featuring a mandolin, ukulele, guitar, and banjo. All social events in which the sexes mingled were under the direct charge of a faculty committee, including the eagerly awaited Senior Hay Ride and Color Rush.

Events in Europe began to influence life at Indiana Normal. Dr. William Jack reorganized the Cadet Corps and George T. Buchanan, a local grocer, appealed to the students "to pleasantly and patriotically adapt to war time regulations and laws." Six Normal boys lost their lives in the service of their country in World War I.

For most of this period to 1917 the school was led by James E. Ament, who improved the faculty and the curriculum and added vivid colors to the campus and the Catalogue. Dr. Ament argued against increasing State influence, but in April, 1920, under the leadership of a new principal, Dr. John A. H. Keith, "the entire control and ownership of the school passed into the hands of the State."

There was another example of progress: In 1919 the school had an aeroplane view of the campus taken.

Drawing.

ALBERT L. GRAFFAM.

We recognize that drawing is an invaluable element in general education, and are prepared to give it the attention its importance deserves.

The value of drawing cannot be over estimated on account of its numberless applications in every art and trade, and because it is an important factor in the training of the perceptive faculties.

The course comprises two terms in the following branches: Pencil sketching from natural and familiar objects; Blackboard sketching; Study of the appearance of form; Water color work; Free hand and Instrumental Perspective; Mechanical Drawing and Lettering.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies in vigorous operation:—The ERODELPHIAN, and the HUYGENIAN. Each of these embraces both ladies and gentlemen. The former is the same society which was originally organized as the "Fairfield Literary Society," and which, at the earnest solicitation of the Principal consented to this change of name.

"There were two literary societies, the Huygenian and Erodelphian. Each met one evening a week. The programs consisted of musical numbers, either vocal or instrumental, a debate, or an oration, and for humor, a recitation or a parody on some well known poem, a humorous event, or escapade of some student, etc. Every member was expected to perform in some way, at least once a year. A faculty member was present and gave an evaluation of the program at its close."

BETWEEN JOHN SUTTON AND THOMAS SUTTON HALL

"Saturday evening recreation consisted of walking two by two, back and forth between the North and South doors on the first floor of Sutton Hall. Girls were permitted to walk with boys, but even this performance was chaperoned."

"Bells? We lived by them — rising, breakfast, classes, lunch, study, dinner, study and lights out!"

OPP COURT HOUSE.

In addition to the advantages of the department, Commercial students have all the privileges of the large library and reading room, literary societies and debating clubs, athletic association, Christian association, socials, lectures and other entertainments of the school.

The time required to complete the Commercial Course varies with the ability, previous training and application of the student. Those who enter "E" classes will probably require three terms, while others who are further advanced can finish it in a shorter time. As the instruction is largely individual, each student may progress as fast as he is able and finish the work as soon as possible.

Having finished the prescribed Course, and passed the examinations satisfactorily, the student is granted an elegant diploma. The charge for the diploma is one dollar.

A Comparison of School Expenses

We are often asked by prospective students and parents contemplating the education of a son or daughter, if the charges at Indiana are reasonable. For the information of such we offer the following comparisons:

Indiana's charge for a full year of 40 weeks, for all fees, tuition, board, room, heat, light and laundry, in the Normal Department, is from $165 to $225.

The best of the smaller colleges of our State, such as Haverford, Lafayette and Swarthmore, charge for board, room and tuition, exclusive of laundry and sometimes class fees, from $300 to $575 per year.

Phillips Academy in Massachusetts gives $465 as "moderate" for tuition, board and room for one year, and $595 as "liberal."

As an example of the cost of attending one of the great universities, of high grade, we mention Princeton, where the average cost is $568 a year.

The State Normal is not designed to be a money making institution; hence

"In February, Washington's birthday was celebrated. In my senior year I was one among others chosen for the special honor of representing Washington's Cabinet — and their ladies. We held the center of the floor for a special minuet. Costumes? Yes, Colonial."

CHRISTINE MARR CAMERON
Critic Teacher in Model School.

A fine passenger elevator has been put in operation, which takes away all objections to the fourth floor rooms, and really makes them the most desirable.

A new brick dormitory for young men, occupies a beautiful situation upon the southern edge of the athletic field. It is one hundred and fifty feet by forty, three stories high, and has a large porch in front. The rooms are commodious. Each is furnished with two single beds. No expense has been spared in the arrangements for heating and ventilation. Every room is thoroughly ventilated without the opening of window or door, thus securing to the occupants an abundance of pure air without exposure to cold drafts.

A beautiful new Model School of eight rooms, with play rooms in the basement for stormy weather, adorns the campus near the northern entrance. This building is lighted, heated, ventilated and furnished in the most approved manner.

Location.

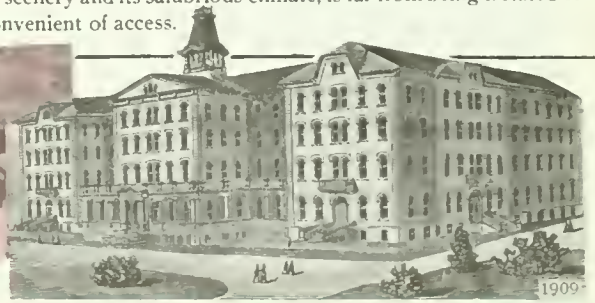
The character and location of Indiana are such as to render it especially desirable as a site for a Normal School.

Near the mountains, having an elevation of thirteen hundred and fifty feet above the sea, it is entirely removed from all malaria, and has an atmosphere of great purity and healthfulness. The health record of the school, as a consequence, has always been remarkably good.

The moral and intellectual character of the citizens, an item of no small importance to students away from home and among strangers, is of a high order, as has been shown in an unmistakable manner by the creation and liberal support of a State Normal School.

Indiana is almost entirely free from tramps and other rough characters, so abundant in railroad towns.

But Indiana, with its high moral tone, its sobriety, its beautiful scenery and its salubrious climate, is far from being isolated or inconvenient of access.



"Monday was a free day. Rooms were cleaned, personal needs attended to. For a short period we could go downtown in the company of one or more students. We could visit in the rooms, but study hour as usual at 7:00 P.M. Classes were held Tuesday through Saturday. There was no study hour Saturday night. The men could come over to the recreation hall for dancing with the girls. There were about ten girls to each man."

Grounds.

The grounds contain about twenty-three acres, including a beautiful grove. A competent gardener is employed to keep the grounds about the buildings in order. The buildings are surrounded by beautiful beds of foliage plants and blooming flowers.

THE HERALD - 1910

"Students arriving in Indiana for the Fall term of 1910 found five buildings located on a lovely campus of stately trees, well kept shrubbery and vast green lawns. The buildings were John Sutton Hall, Thomas Sutton Annex, Clark Hall, Leonard Recitation Hall and the Model School."

SEWING.—The aim of this course in sewing is to give practical understanding of the uses of the various stitches and seams through the making of simple articles by hand. Machine work is begun on simple articles which will give practice in straight stitching. The use of patterns and the fitting of garments are considered in the making of dainty pieces of underwear. The course is given with teaching methods preparing the student to teach a simple course in sewing in public school work.

This so-called Candy Kitchen has been an important factor in training the social and hospitable side of the girls' nature.

Influence—It pays to attend a school that is widely and favorably known, for much of the future success of the student depends upon the character and influence of the school from which he is graduated. An Indiana Diploma is a passport into the best positions of the State.

Positions

We do not guarantee positions to graduates of our Business School, but we are watchful and zealous in our efforts to place them as soon as they step out of the school. At the present time we are unable to supply the demand for our graduates, and we do not doubt that this condition will continue.

Detailed Information

If you desire to know more of the work done in our Shorthand, Bookkeeping and Banking Department, address A. E. Kinsley, Head of Business School.

Special to Teachers

At the present time there is a great demand for trained teachers of Bookkeeping, Commercial Law, Shorthand, Typewriting and other commercial subjects. This demand is constantly growing and we wish to place special emphasis upon the opportunity offered in this field to young people with the requisite elementary training. The salary of a commercial teacher is usually much better than that of teachers in other branches of the profession.

We particularly call attention to our Commercial

FRANKLIN P. MT. PLEASANT

ATHLETIC COACH

Franklin P. Mt. Pleasant one of the best known athletes of the present day, was born at Niagara Falls, N. Y., of Indian parentage. He was, at an early age, sent to the Carlisle Training School at Carlisle, Pa., and spent a large portion of his life there. By his great work he reflected much credit on this school and kept his name constantly before the public during his stay there.

The great athlete is more or less a product, and Mr. Mt. Pleasant is no exception. Showing at first no extraordinary ability, by careful training and constant work he finally reached a rare state of perfection. A star at any game requiring physical strength—baseball, football, track and basketball—he is indeed a remarkable athlete. It is in football and track work that Mr. Mount Pleasant is pre-eminent. On the track he is a sprinter, doing the hundred in ten seconds, the 220 in twenty-two and two-fifth seconds, and a quarter in fifty seconds. His limit has never been reached in the quarter, as when he made his record he trotted across the finish. His hobby, however, is broad jumping, and in this event he made the 1908 Olympic team. His longest recorded jump is twenty-four feet, four inches, but he did this in practice and not in a meet, his record standing at twenty-three feet, nine inches. During the games at London he was greatly handicapped by a strained ligament, and the inclemency of the weather, which had a peculiar effect upon his nature. However, his real ability was shown in the games at Paris, where he won the broad jump, defeating Irons, the Olympic champion, and establishing a new French record.

Manual Training is not, as some suppose, a study of the elements of certain trades; but a good course in Manual Training is invaluable as a preparation for any trade or profession. The object of the student in Manual Training is not so much to learn how to perform certain operations as it is to think and modify knowledge from any source and adapt and apply it to the work in hand in a practical and efficient manner. It is only those who can apply this knowledge thus that have received a satisfactory educational training, and the demand for this class of people as teachers and in all other lines of activity is greater than the supply.

The course in Manual Training requires the construction of such objects as will give the student a broad knowledge of the principles involved in wood construction and finishing. Each student is furnished with a blue-print of

The Whatsoever Circle is a branch of the Young Women's Christian Association, which has been in operation for many years and has become noted for religious and helpful work of all kinds. FRATERNITIES

THE HERALD - 1913

Supervisors' Course

We desire especially to call attention to the superior advantages found at Indiana for the training of Supervisors of Music for public schools. It was largely owing to the fact that the Director of the Conservatory, after years of experience and observation, while visiting schools in different parts of the country, became convinced of the need of a more thorough training on the part of the supervisor as well as of the grade teacher, that he was led to give his assistance in the establishment of a training school where both knowledge and experience could be obtained by those who wished to enter this important and wide field of labor. The course embraces all leading systems and methods, and our graduates are prepared to use any one of them.

After a careful study of methods, devices, etc., students are required to give experimental lessons before the class, following which free criticism is made both by members of the class and the teacher in charge, and when found proficient they are required to teach throughout the several grades of the Model School, which enrolls upwards of two hundred children. class-work is, of itself, "a living example" of the best methods to use in presenting advanced geography, the time alloted to this branch of the work is given over to a study of the best method of teaching geography in the lower grades.

When and how to begin the subject, how best to teach the fundamental ideas of direction, distance, etc., value of map-drawing, the sand-table and other features of the work are taken up, studied and discussed. A "working outline" for actual use in the school room is supposed to be one of the fruits of this course. This work will be presented to the class through dictation and discussion.

A fine set of wall maps, a globe, sand-table, charts and other accessories are at the command of the teacher of this subject.

GEOLOGY.—In Political Geography we have studied the earth with regard to man's activities upon it—cities, farms, factories; in Physical Geography we have considered the earth as the home of man, and learned of its surface preparation for man's use; in Geology we go deeper, and study the origin of the world, its varying forms, and its gradual evolution from primeval fire-mist to a stable foundation for man's multitudinous labors and investigations.

Science and Revelation unite in declaring the world to have been at first "without form, and void;" then that there gradually appeared the waters; then, above these, lands arose to view; later came elementary life-forms of plant and of animal life; finally, when all was ready, man, the master, entered upon his inheritance.

We first consider Geology physiographically, and review our Physical Geography study; then comes Lithological Geology, the examination of rocks and minerals and soils, their condition, structure, and arrangement; next Dynamical Geology, treating of the causes of geological events, of the forces which produce earth changes,—atmosphere, heat, water, life, etc.; finally,

"Many of us from the country had to travel dirt roads, often great distances, by foot, horseback, horse and buggy and bicycle, for the most part. There were few automobiles in those days."

AS regularly as September rolls around, and schools begin, the Faculty at I. S. N. S. hold their annual "Corn Roast." Last September the weather made for the event. On the afternoon of the day set, all sorts of things appropriate to eat at such a time were being taken up to "Reservoir Hill," where a large fire had been made in a stone pit.

A few hours later everything was ready to serve. There was roasted corn, hot and buttered, baked sweet potatoes, fried bacon, sandwiches and coffee. When this was eaten great boxes of marshmallows were brought forth. While these were being toasted, some sang songs and others told jokes and stories. Thus continued the happy party until the late hours began to creep upon them and they realized that it was time to return.

...study of diagnosis ...disease, apart from materia medica and the common diseases encountered in actual practice. The average high school gradnate has been away from the common school subjects for from four to five years. His knowledge of those subjects was obtained at an immature age. In his normal school course they must be reviewed from the standpoint of a teacher. His view will be very different from the view he had as a child. The normal school must not only teach how to teach, but what to teach and the educational value of study subjects. True, it cannot and does not confine its courses to common school subjects, realizing the necessity of having the content of its courses broad and cultural. These facts make the normal school a desirable institution in which to obtain a general education for any purpose in life. More and more, far-seeing parents have recognized this, and have insisted upon the privilege of paying full tuition for having their children educated in the normal school, thus benefiting by its peculiar excellence.

For thousands of years, thoughtful men have realized the educational and cultural value of music, and its psychological effect in giving tone and sanity to mental life. American educational leaders believe in music as a school study, and insist that the common school teacher shall possess a fair degree of musical knowledge and ability. To meet this demand in training, the leading normal schools have founded strong departments of music. The department at Indiana has grown into a well-equipped Conservatory, second to none in this section of the country.

The life of a community determines the practical side of its school education. America is a business country; hence, in its cities everywhere high schools are offering business courses. To prepare teachers for this class of High School work, this Normal maintains a Business School. So thorough and excellent is the course that many are graduated from it, not to teach, but to take up business careers. In short, it is the purpose of this Institution to prepare teachers for every grade and kind of teaching of wide demand

Deductions and Refunds

(Read carefully)

No deduction is made for absence the first two or the last three weeks of a term, for any cause whatever.

When a student drops out of a strong and popular school, he vacates a place that might have been occupied by another, who would have remained through the term. The school's expenses for light, heat, etc., are not lessened by the student's dropping out. The teachers who could teach him still remain and draw their salaries. Food for a large school cannot be bought daily on the markets of a small town; consequently, the authorities, calculating on a full school, must contract for food in advance for a term, and sometimes for a year. For these reasons some of the best conducted schools will make no refunds for any cause, but insist upon a full year's payment in advance, against which no claims will be recognized. Indiana, however, as indicated above, will share the loss with the parent or guardian where the absence is caused by the student's sickness.

In cases of light illness, a student will be cared for in our Infirmary. No charge will be made for nursing. If the attendance of a physician is needed, the student must meet his charge. In case of serious illness, it will be necessary for the student to be removed either to her home or to a private hospital, in which case the student must meet the charges.

ANNUAL KISKI-INDIANA BALL GAME

"The Big event of the sports year was the Kiski Football game. Everyone turned out dressed in their warmest clothes for the contest. There were no bleachers. Bonfires, at intervals, on the Athletic field helped to keep the spectators warm.

"Sharkey's got rid of the Victorola and installed an electric player piano" — an indication that a new era had begun. More significantly, on June 1, 1927, the State Normal School at Indiana became a Teachers College with the right to grant degrees. Alice Clements of the home economics department was the first recipient.

Swing Out became an annual event complete with queen and pageant. One such pageant, "A Day in Sherwood Forest," was described as "one of the most beautiful and attractive forms of entertainment that has yet been devised." Homecoming Day and the Christmas performance of "Why the Chimes Rang" were other traditions born in these years. The Literary Society sponsored the movie, "Disraeli", starring George Arliss, and the New York String Quartet came to town, but there was more pride when the Indiana Orchestra played Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony."

Despite closing threats and enrollment concerns during the depression years, the teacher-training program continued to improve. Dr. Percival conducted an experiment with student volunteers on the effect of smoking under fatigue conditions. Why President Coolidge vetoed the Farm Relief Bill was discussed, and the Open Forum debate in 1934 on the Naval Appropriations Bill drew a large audience. Admiral Byrd told his story of Little America and Captain MacMillan lectured on Arctic exploration, but there was more excitement when the Goodyear blimp flew over Indiana.

Students began to question the need for a quiet hour on Sunday, but forgot their complaints long enough to dance the Big Apple to the tune of the Dipsy Doodle. Flappers debated whether to wear "the wind blown look" or, "the boyish bob," and it was said that a fellow could get a Prom date if a young lady knew he could do the Harold Lloyd black bottom. At the Intermediate Party the cake walk was the main feature. Rules were strict, and Christopher Morley made Indiana's "nine o'clock date" famous by describing it in the Saturday Review.

The basketball season of 1929 "is undoubtedly a success" because Slippery Rock was beaten twice. At "The Rock," Captain McKnight led "the raging Indians," and Mr. Oswald was permitted to give the announcement of victory at dinner. When the new gym was opened "the faculty forgot their dignity and stamped and yelled." The guiding force behind championship football performances was Coach George Miller, "a gentleman with a whistle." Fans came from miles around to watch wiry Marshall "Mish" Woodring return punts. "He was so slippery," said one admirer, "that he was never tackled one on one." The Penn editor in 1955 named Woodring "Indiana's greatest all-time athlete."

Rabbi Wise, who had suffered in Germany, lectured on Hitlerism, and the curriculum prophetically added Geography of the Pacific Realm and History of the Far East. The library grew by thousands of volumes, a club for student teachers was active in Johnstown, and the Catalogue proudly noted that "Indiana can be reached from any point in Western Pennsylvania in twelve hours."

Comparison of Grades Shows Wide Range In Quality Points

The week when semester grades are sent out is always a week of great rejoicing for some students, but others find it a cause for lamentation. This is not to be wondered at when one learns that the number of quality points, gained by one student, in the past semester, ranged from none at all to more than fifty! Conditions like that cause us to think occasionally. Are individual differences this strongly marked, or the will to work have anything to with these wide variations in grade

What is to be done about such condition? In most colleges stu ents are sent home at the end of th semester if they fail to make the required grade. Annual Costume Dance Held In Rec. Hall on Hallowe'en

Great Originality Shown In Costumes

On Monday evening, October ... 9:15 o'clock, the Indiana girls turned out to the annual costume dance in Rec. Hall. All the steps in the evolution of civilization were represented in the outfits which the girls donned on the one occasion of the year when their imagination was allowed a broad swing.

The ghost was there, but in modern version. Pirates, dapper young men, coy maidens, inhabitants of the Bowery who left their habitat for this celebration, all contributed to the varied aspect of the scene.

The faculty turned out to ... marvels of the age and showed the appreciation of the ingenious costumes. Miss Ellenberger and Miss Hartman were the biggest hits of the evening.

Economic Biologists At Poultry Show

Acting upon the suggestion of the directors of the Indiana County Poultry Association, Mr. Emmert took his Economics Biology Class to the armory to attend the seventh annual exhibition of the Association held last week. Entries included turkeys, pigeons, geese, novelty breeds of chickens, capons and a great number of standard breeds of chickens. There were some very fine pens of Leghorns, Wyandottes, Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, Minorcas, Jersey Giants, Orpingtons, Cochins and many others.

On The Joys of Being a Commuter

Isn't it queer what a vast difference a mere point of view can make? The view-point of a commuter is very likely to be slightly warped by circumstances.

We commuters are being constantly reminded that we should be ever appreciative of the great opportunity of being able to live at home and go to school. Well meaning individuals are always sermonizing with great gusto on the wonderful blessing of being at home. They point out with surprising accurateness the numerous privileges and advantages we enjoy, but of the other side of the question they are blissfully ignorant and unaware.

Now let someone who has learned by oh, such painful, bitter experiences present to you the commuter's viewpoint. Some gushing young thing says, "Oh, you lucky creature! You have such a good opportunity to study; you're in your own home where perfect silence is at your command!" Poor, misinformed creature, how little you know of the real situation! Yes, we're in our own homes, it's true, but as for the silence—you're all wrong. What chances have poor brain-puzzlers like English, American History, and other such items against the jazz orchestra screeching over the radio; against the thump-thump on the piano produced by an over active young sister or brother; against the frequent whirring of the telephone and door bell? Then, when you're almost settled for really earnest concentration, some well meaning but inconsiderate person comes to—"spend

Red And Slate Machine Shows Best Form of Season

Saturday at the Armory the cup of joy of I S N S was indeed filled to overflowing when the varsity cage men rode rough shod over the Indiana Y M C A to score a 50 point victory, 42-22

This victory came as a very welcome and unexpected surprise, as it was feared on the campus that the Varsity would be a little too fast for our men. The reverse was true, however, as the result of the game was never in doubt, so great was the superiority of the "Normal team. The followers of the "Y" team were banking a great deal on the two ex-"V" forwards, who are considered dead shots That they may be, but they didn't get a chance to show it in the game, as they were always covered by an alert defense.

As the Normal team functioned in perfect order, it would be hard to pick any individual stars. Hanna dropped 3 double deckers in, and Bishop scored the same number of points on 1 and two fouls. "Pete" made his return to the Varsity very noticeable, playing a bang-up game in spite of several injuries. McKnight at center

Senior Outing

The senior outing at Indiana is an event which is looked forward to with enthusiasm and pleasure by the seniors and by the faculty. When the event was planned for October, 1921, the weather man was not consulted. The eventful day was chill and cloudy but the frost in the air gave an added "pep" to all, and instead of cheating the students, the weather man cheated himself.

At 9:00 A. M., the happy group of three hundred set out for a day's sport at Camp Rest-a-While. Those who could afford the six cent fare, went by trolley; the majority hiked. By ten o'clock the dance hall was open, and all comers were making merry. We still have a vision of Miss Allen scooting down the slide; we still hear the merry-go-round creaking under its weight of faculty members.

Lunch was prepared over an open fire and served in cafeteria style. The menu consisted of cream potatoes, weiners, buns, pickles, doughnuts, pears, and coffee. Generosity characterized the servings. Many applied for the second helping and it is rumored that Mr. Wiley was seen in the line-up at three different times.

Games, races, dancing, and impromptu pantomimes made up the afternoon's program of fun. Miss Ackerman deserves honorable mention for participation in the potato race.

Should Daters Date?

On the campus we have a place to study and a place to loaf, a place to work and a place to play, a place to smoke (for boys) and a place to abstain from smoking, a place to act and a place to watch the acting, a place to talk and a place to keep quiet. Does Indiana have a place to date? If so, where is it?

If we were to ask the question: Do the students at Indiana date? the answer would be in the affirmtive. However, the rub comes when we find where they have to or at least where they do date. At the present time it appears to take one person on duty almost full time to ponce the library. The chief thing which this person seems to do in the evenings is to attempt to keep "daters" from dating. We entirely agree with the principle that the library is no place to have a date, but the poor freshman or sophomore asks where else such extra-curricular activities may be carried on. Of course one night a week a student may have a date on the

First Frosh-Soph Sack Battle Thing of History

The smoke has cleared away, but not from our eyes, and we can see the sky again. The first Frosh-Soph Sack Battle of the State Teachers College, Indiana, Pa., is now a late addition to history.

The battle took place at 5 o'clock this last Tuesday on the Campus Field. Probably 6 to 7 hundred witnessed the bloody fray.

The actual game time was only 20 minutes. However, in a match where the muscles are taxed every second with straining endeavors, with hard knocks and tackles, with gasping down-field runs—20 minutes is a very long time indeed.

At the end of the first half the Freshmen had the advantage, 13 sacks to the Sophomore's 10. In the second half things changed. The Sophs captured 14 sacks and the Frosh 9.

The score by halves:

	Frosh	Soph
First Half	13	10
Second Half	9	14
Final Score	22	24

The Sophomores were declared the victors by two sacks.

Now that the Sophs are the victors the Freshmen customs must be kept on until the end of the term. Too bad, but never fear, Freshmen, you'll have your turn next year.

Lowell Thomas Pleases Large Audience of Students, Townspeople

Lecture Is Illustrated by Motion Pictures of Palestine and Arabia.

Monday evening, January 30, the students at I. S. T. C. enjoyed an unusual privilege—that of listening to Lowell Thomas, world famous explorer, writer, and aviator, tell of his adventures in Palestine and Arabia during the World War. He accompanied his talk with motion pictures and slides.

Mr. Thomas' talk was interesting from the very beginning when he took us from Cairo down the Nile until he left us in far off Arabia with the fighting Lawrence who ran away from the British army to mobilize a savage army or Bedouins and then returned to form a wing of the same army from which he had run away.

His pictures were colorful glimpses of the life of Egypt, the Sahara, Arabia and Jerusalem. During his journeys he stopped to investigate the lost city, carved out of atone, which people today call Tetra but which is of unknown origin.

We got splendid descriptions of the works of Allenby and Lafrence and a vivid picture of the capture of Jerusalem, the city which the Turks said would never be captured until the Nile ran across the desert to Palestine. Allenby, however, fulfilled this prophecy by piping water across the Sahara in pipes.

The lecture was interspersed with bits of Mr. Thomas' humor, and the audience, judging by the applause it gave, evidently considered the evening very profitably spent. Mr.

Term Papers

We feel that we have chosen a safe title fo
ause most people have such an antipathy term papers" that they will not be interest his; consequently we may air our humble op unte freely.

Just now it seems that the crop of term
hat the time is ripe for reaping the harvest.
re going about with harassed faces and ttencing to look worried over the unusual ibrary. Now what we would like to know the value of a term paper? Indeed we would appr some of the faculty who hand out term paper assignments in su a carefree manner, would explain in words of not more than two syllables what they expect us to gain from the assignment. As yet we have been able to discover only these values: they give the student practice in library work; they improve his typing speed if he possesses a typewriter; if not, they work disastrous turn on his penmanship; they produce a worried look on his face which adds at least one years to his age (This doubtless will be a value in securing a teaching position. Superintendents do not prefer young, gloomy teachers); or for one week he feels overwhelmed with his vast knowledge of the subject, and then he forgets all about it.

Of course the above is a very light superficial treatment of such a serious subject, but just now we are too much engrossed in the writing of term papers ourselves to be able to produce an editorial worthy of the subject. And again of course, we hope the faculty will not think that these are our honest opinions of term papers.

School Orchestra To Give Concert May 6

Program Will Include Overture, Symphony, Dances

DO YOU KNOW?

1. That Indiana has a school orchestra, symphonic in form?

2 That this orchestra, your orchestra, is giving a concert on the evening of May 6th?

3. That this orchestral concert program will include an overture, a symphony, and a group of dances?

If you do not know this, we are tellin gyou now. But what is an orchestra of symphonic form? An orchestra of symphonic form consists of four full choirs, namely

1. The string choir--1st violins, 2nd violins, violas, 'cellos, basses

2 The wood-wind choir—flutes, oboes, clarinets, bassoons.

3. The brass choir—trumpets, horn, and trombones.

4 The percussion—tympani, and whatever drums or traps the score requires.

But does Indaina have all this? It surely does, and we are going to tell you more about it in a later issue of our school paper. If you don't believe us, make up your mind to check up on all the above claims by being present at the concert. If you do believe what we tell you, then don't fail to hear one of the greatest musical concrts of the year. Still more hear a concert that will be a pacemaker for all Normal Schools in the country!

Tickets will be on sale at 50c each

McKnight Leads Fighting Team To Victory

Indiana attached another scalp to its belt when they defeated the powerful Slippery Rock team last Saturday by a score of 25-21.

With the score 11 to 5 against them at the half, the raging Indians made a spectacular come-back and swept the Slippery Rock team off its feet. The Red and Slate literally scalped and tomahawked their way to the lead and held it.

This was the most sensational game of the season for our team. Function of the State Normal School

Pennsylvania, in common with most of the American states, realized practically from its founding the necessity of an educated citizenship. It is axiomatic that a just and efficient government must and will be controlled and administered by the educated; hence, the genius of our government implies an educated citizenship. This attitude of the state toward the instruction of its people makes it the one competent agency in supplying qualified teachers for its schools. This the State of Pennsylvania does through its State Normal Schools, whose function is the preparation of teachers for the common schools of the state. The learning and training imparted by the state through its Normal Schools has not for its purpose the bettering of the condition of one class of persons at the public expense; the school does not exist for the benefit of its students simply, but for the benefit of the whole people, and its work is done with the general welfare always in view.

Four Degrees Granted At Commencement

Dr. Slosser To Deliver Commencement Address.

The mid-year Commencement exercises of the college will be held in the auditorium this afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. This is the first commencement to be held at Indiana in January. Previous to this time all the students completing their courses in January had no formal Commencement exercises until May.

Dr. Foster, the college president, gave a Reception to the Faculty and Graduating Students in Recreation Hall. The reception was held last night at 8:00.

The Commencement Dinner will be served in the college Dining Room at noon today. After the under classmen are seated, the graduates will march in to the tables reserved for them.

Dr. Gaius J. Slosser, professor of History in Western Theological Seminary at Pittsburgh is to deliver the commencement address. Dr. Slosser is not unknown to the people of Indiana, since he has supplied in the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church of this city recently.

The Invocation will be given by Dr. J. V. McCamey, the pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Indiana.

Degrees will be conferred upon four students, and forty-two diplomas will be presented to students in the two-year curriculum.

A PLEA FOR THE INTELLIGENSIA

Occasionally, we believe, there are some members of the student body in any school who feel the urge to bask in the light of the intellectual influences supposedly to be found in the college atmosphere. These people usually have some trouble in pursuing their plans unmolested, and it is for this minority that we raise our voice of protest.

Now of course we know that the thing to do on Sunday afternoon is to go out walking, or to sleep if you don't happen to be interested in men. But what of the people who care for neither of these sports and who would much prefer to read a good book or the New York Sunday Times? The Sunday Times on Monday or Tuesday isn't particularly interesting, if only because it sounds out of date. And besides, according to our old-fashioned ideas, week days are for work, and it really can be found in abundance for the person who knows how to look for it. To the person of analytical mind it now begins to be clear that the only day left for recreational reading is Sunday, and on that day the doors to our fount of knowledge, the Library, are closed. Is it any wonder the pursuit of knowledge is becoming a lost art?

Registration Week Presents Horrors For Students

Next to test week in our category of unpleasant things comes registration week. But when they both come together—may the saints preserve us!

After an hour, or two, or three of stewing in stuffy classrooms trying to answer questions you never even heard of, to come out with a sigh of relief on your lips and confront a sign which informs you that this is the last possible day for registration—well, isn't it the limit? Another sigh (not of relief) and you trudge to your room for the necessary checks (incidentally climbing through the transom because your roomie has locked the door and gone off with the key).

Back to the office where there are cards to be signed and where they take your money! No trouble in that line—it's never any trouble to get rid of money.

But now for the program and Leonard Hall! After a wait varying in length from a half an hour to an hour and a half to get near the Holy One who has charge of the programs you finally find yourself in his immediate presence. Overawed, you find yourself almost unable to make your feeble wants known to this great personage who has solved the problems of so many. You quickly agree to any proposition in the way of a program and slip out as unassumingly as possible.

Upstairs to sign up for classes—you find yourself caught in a whirlpool of humanity—a throng that if it were straight of it would disappear—due to the relative. As it curls and writhes forward, it reminds one of the Chinese snake procession through the streets on state occasions. Presently you find yourself in it, pushing and swaying with the rest. When you emerge at the end of a long wait from the other end of the line, damp, perspiring, and tired, having signed two of your six or seven cards, a bed is the most inviting thing in your range of experience and you just think—what all has to be gone through again tonight."

Every member of the class has been enthusiastic about the subject, and several have tried to express their opinions at once but order is kept by Dr. Percival, and the discussions are conducted according to conventional rules.

Public Opinion Aroused Over Sacco-Vanzetti Case

Public discussion of the case of Sacco and Vanzetti, now under sentence of death, continues. It has taken just seven years for this case to be decided in the courts of Massachusetts. Two Italians, one a shoemaker and the other a fish peddler, now await execution for the killing and robbery of the paymaster and guard of a $16,000 pay roll, the theft of which has never been traced.

There is a widespread belief that these men have never had a fair trial. Public opinion has been aroused, and a petition has been presented to Governor Fuller of Massachusetts in their behalf. Behind the fight for these two human lives lies the deeper challenge to the arrogant claim that courts are infallible and that to subject them to scrutiny is to weaken the bonds of society.

Do Townspeople Recognize You?

College students are supposed to stand for the culture of a nation. Especially must the student at a teachers college represent the highest ideals of conduct for he is to be responsible for that of future generations. All through their college career students are lectured to, preached at, requested to, and peremptorily ordered to make these ideals of culture a part of themselves. In the emphasis upon these greater things, the little details that go to make up the whole are often neglected. Which brings us to the point of our editorial.

Have you ever noticed how our fair co-eds walk down the street? They line up three and four and five abreast and with arms interlocked serenely sweep all obstacles before them. Townspeople meeting them are forced to choose between stepping out of their path voluntarily or being literally pushed out of it. With their heads high with the joy of living and teeth flashing in smiles of cheerfulness we are the first time almost beguiled into forgiving these happy adventurers into life. The second time it occurs, we wonder at their lack of consideration, but the third time we condemn it. Townspeople say that it is possible to identify a group of Indiana college students by the ruthless lack of courtesy they display on the street in respect to meeting other people without turning aside. It is a pleasa recngnized, but we would prefer being recognized b other characteristic than that of discourtesy.

More Girls for Basketball

Every Tuesday and Thursday at 3:20 Mr. Prugh has a group of girls in volleyball. Thus far seventeen girls have turned out. In a school the size of I. S. T. These seventeen, however, declare that despite their small class, they are having a very successful season and are enjoying the game.

LITERARY SOCIETY PRESENTS PLAY

"Why the Chimes Rang", the well-known Christmas play, was presented by the Leonard Literary Society Wednesday evening, at eight o'clock in the College Assembly Hall.

The presentation of this play, under the direction of Miss Edna Lee Sprowls is Leonard Literary Society's annual contribution to the proper celebration of Christmas, and it has become one of the loveliest traditions of the College.

Notwithstanding the fact that many have seen this play before, every year the Assembly Hall is crowded to capacity with students who wish to see the play again before leaving. Individual This year Leonard Literary Society extended an invitation to see the play free of charge, making it possible for many to attend.

The presentation of the Training School was as follows:

COLLEGE SCIENCE DEPARTMENT BENEFITS BY FUND

Indiana State Teachers College has just received an allocation of funds through Doctor James N. Rule, state superintendent of public instruction, which will make it possible to re-construct and thoroughly equip a modern Science Department in Leonard Hall.

This improvement has been needed for some time because of the increasing number of students who are electing science as a major in the Junior-Senior High School Curriculum.

Dr. Thomas Smyth, Head of the Science Department, has greatly improved the science work since coming to Indiana in 1928. With the funds which have been allocated, he will be able to buy modern equipment, thus facilitating efficient teaching and demonstration work.

Cox's Ultimate Gesture

Much unfavorable criticism is being heaped upon the head of Reverend Cox who, in the minds of many, has lead his army of unemployed in a useless demonstration. Forgetful of the fact that the right to petition the government for redress of grievances is a guarantee of the Constitution, hundreds of Americans are condemning him as a gesturing side show man who contributes little to the circus.

However, Cox and his men did make a very definite contribution. This economic crisis is much like a boil which, beginning as a slight local irritation, swells its ugly self until a head forms and breaks at the moment when the entire body is aware of the throbbing spot. Thus, since 1929, depression has been developing into a sore that eats the sustenance and hope of all working people. But, the head, the point where endurance is no longer possible, has refused to break and bring relief. Last week, ten thousand men who ask nothing more than a chance to work in the world's most wealthy nation—ten thousand men, a representation of only one city, crossed mountains and rivers to plead with the Government for lancing of the boil. When human beings become so desperate and de-

A Landmark Passes

On the statute books there is no law which states that all colleges must have their respective stores where students buy anything from b a k e d beans to puzzles. Nevertheless, what would college be without just such a nearby shop? When reunion days come around again this summer, the one-time Indiana students will find a surprise awaiting them across the street from North Gate. A newly-painted and enlarged store front is there to greet them. The windows are neatly and attractively decorated. Announcements of new features, such as a lending library, are placed invitingly on the door. Student patronage is subtely solicited at the neighborhood shop, and Sharkey'a is no more.

To the History of Civilization classes, Miss Belden showed last Friday some pictures of famous European beauty spots in Germany, Italy, England, and France Surprising are the figures for the seating capacity of Leonard Hall. Estimates place the number of chairs and laboratory stools at 1490 counting offices and classrooms. Of that number the Junior High School claims 400, the first floor 490, and the second floro 600. Furthermore, about 1,000 students of the 1284 enrollment pass in and out of the building in a day. Shades of Esculapius, doesn't a lot of water flow under the bridge in a week!

SAVE THE TEACHERS COLLEGES

Right at this moment the State Teachers Colleges of Pennsylvania are facing one of the gravest crises in their history. Say the taxpayers, "Economize", to which respond legislators, "Wherever it is easiest to do so." Consequently the teacher training schools supported by Commonwealth funds are threatened with either extermination as State supported schools or the curtailing of funds to the point where efficiency of the schools is destroyed.

The arguments raised for such slashing of appropriations are often unfair and more frequently without basis. It is not right to say that the money given the teachers colleges comes directly from the farmer and home owner's pockets, for the entire cost of these institutions is met from the general fund derived from corporation, mercantile, inheritance, and similar taxes. Furthermore, during the last biennium over $6,000,000 was returned to the State treasury, yet in the appropriation of $10,512,000 no mention was made of the money already turned in. This sum was distributed to fourteen teachers colleges. On the other hand several millions were granted to six univeraities and colleges that return not one cent to the State and that charge high tuition fees.

The plea that the teachers colleges should be limited because the supply is exceeding the demand is running counter to one of the fundamental laws of economy. With the number of teachers greater than the number of positions school boards and superintendents can choose the best person from the list of applicants. Such opportunity for selection as exists today means that the public schools should be getting the cream of the crop to the benefit of the student and of the taxpayer who no longer pays for the mistakes of the incapable teacher.

Increased Naval Appropriations Bill Discussed by Students at Open Forum

Many College Students Show Interest In Current Affairs

As future leaders of our respective communities it should be our duty to understand the issues faced by our government. With each year the nation's problems grow more complex. Today, in the midst of economic distress, United States is confronted with one of the gravest national questions since 1914, the problem of increasing the naval appropriations.

Monday evening, February 28, Dean Marshall and Grace Mancuso argued pro and con at Open Forum on, Should Congress Enact a Bill for Naval Appropriation?

For the proposed appropriation of $800,000,000, in addition to the regular appropriation, the United States would be prepared to defend our shores with five new battleships, 1,100 new planes, and other additional ships of varied types. Faced with military oligarchies on both sides, and separated from them by the Atlantic and the Pacific, United States aims to equal the combined fleets of Germany, Italy and Japan.

Chairman of the Naval Appropriations committee has pointed out that our navy should be prepared to protect the Panama Canal, Alaska, Hawaii, and our insular possessions; to protect our commerce and citizens abroad; to guarantee our national securities and to protect our national

President Gives Answer To Council's Proposals

December 5, 1934.

Mr. Sam Green, President, Student Council
State Teachers College
Indiana, Pennsylvania
My dear Mr. Green:

The resolutions of the Student Council referred to the three Deans were presented to me yesterday. I desire to make the following report to you with regard to the final disposition of the requests.

First. We do not feel at the present time that we care to abolish the regulation which establishes a quiet hour on Sunday from 4:00 to 5:00 P. M. I find that as a general thing the practice throughout the country is to establish visiting hours in girls' dormitories. In addition to this, those of us who live in these dormitories feel that we have a right to at least one quiet hour during the day. There are also other good reasons why we feel that the quiet hour should not be abolished. I might say that this regulation refers to the dormitory buildings and does not have any reference to the out-door campus.

Second. I am willing to try out for a time at least, the suggestion that Recreation Hall and the ambulatory around Recreation Hall be used for social purposes on Friday night between the hours of 8:00 and 9:45. The East Parlor is not to be used. There is to be no dancing. We shall be very glad to have the students play games of various kinds, including bridge, etc. This permission will [illegible] only with the understanding that the Student Council [illegible] responsible for the maintenance of good order at this time. [illegible] also to be understood that occasionally Recreation Hall will not [illegible] available on Friday evenings as it will be engaged for other pur- [illegible] Due notice wil he given under these circumstances.

Third. I am very sorry that we cannot concede the recommendation given under your third resolution. I want to also state for your information that if my plans can be carried out, we will be in position to organize and furnish a fine social parlor on the north hall of John Sutton Hall, beginning with the fall semester, 1935.

I wish you would convey to the Student Council that all your requests have been considered thoroughly and sympathetically, and I only regret that circumstances will not permit all the concessions requested.

Very sincerely yours,
C. R. FOSTER.
President.

MISS ANNA F. GIVEN TELLS OF 80'S IN INTERVIEW WITH PENN REPORTER

"The girls who wrote As the Leaves Turn, cleverly presented very characteristic scenes," stated Misa Anna F. Given, a graduate from Indiana Normal School in 1882, during a recent interview. She related several experiences from her school life here in the 80's.

"Life hasn't changed so much," she said, "and young people are still the same." In speaking of rules, she said, "We weren't allowed to throw water out the windows or to wave from them (how like 1934 that sounds!) I remember one night several young men were serenading some young ladies in the dormitory, and the girls threw a pitcher of water on them. It so happened that Dr. Durling, who was principal then, came out to investigate, and he got the water on hia hesd. The frightened girls watched him come back into the building, expecting to hear from him, but not a word was said to anyone about the whole matter."

"In those daya, we had chapel every morning and evening and Sabbath School classes on Sunday afternoons. These classes were taught by the instructors and were held in the classrooms." Miss Given was a charter member of the Y. W. C. A., which was organized to "increase the religious life of the school."

"We had no school paper, but each of the two literary societies had its own which was read at each meeting. There

TO THE GIRLS WHO WILL NOT RECEIVE BIDS

INDIANA HAS FIVE SORORITIES to care for approximately nine hundred girls. The average membership of these sororities approximated thirty girls during the second semester of the 1932-33 school term. These figures indicate that over seven hundred girls at Indiana do not now belong to sororities. They would also seem to indicate that a great number of freshman girls who would like to be members of some sorority will not have the opportunity.

This last is an issue that must be faced. It is an issue that should be considered before bids are given. To be refused opportunity to join a sorority is not to be discarded socially. Three years ago, the students of Ohio State University saw fit to choose a non-sorority girl as their campus queen. It isn't rational to think that with their limited memberships the sororities have garnered all that is worthwhile. Some of the outstanding people

Dear Mom:

Do you mike me—much? I'm busy but I find time to miee you. School has been moving fast—but not our basketball team — Bloomsburg beats us 48-25 last Saturday night. We're counting on the boys to "re-fast-en" our reputation.

Mr. Norman Thomas, the Socialist, spoke to us in assembly Friday and I missed English class. I went expecting to quake in every bone as he declared awful things—instead, Mom, he just shouted good, common sense at us. What a man!

Lincoln's birthday was talked about a great deal on the radio. Most of the things were nice, but why is it there is always some publicity hound that comes out with such things as "could have stopped the Civil War sooner by——." Reporters shout it as if it should be accomplished immediately when they might as well take their time—it only happened 73 years ago. There were beautiful plays, though, and the Commercial department featured a lovely From Log Cabin to White House show case.

The art exhibit was good, Mom. I had to stiffen myself to keep from attempting to lie down in some of that beautiful grass, climb some of those trees, or play "crap" on the wharves. It was an ordeal.

Some of the teachers in the Music department gave a concert Thursday. Some people went that didn't even have to. The music was swell. After it was over, I just sat there, still thinking about my English theme. Bill woke me up.

Valentine parties were the vogue last week-end. What with a non-resident students' party Saturday afternoon and the commercial skating party Monday, there were lots of hearts floating around. Here's a kiss for you, Mom. You're still my best Valentine. Give Pop my regards (kisses not necessary).

Love,
Blimp.

SANDBURG LECTURE RELATES POETIC ART TO PERSONALITY

Poet Says Art Is A Matter Of Personal Taste; Reads Poetry

IS BROUGHT BY L. L. S.

The Leonard Literary Society presented an unusual artist, Carl Sandburg, Monday night, February 18, at 8:15 in the Gymnasium.

Mr Sandburg opened his lecture by speaking of art, education, and culture He said, "Today we are living as individuals, developing our personalities. Never was there a time when it was so difficult to have personality." He stated that there definition of culture, art, those people who worthwhile in humble about area covered at nall. By capturing all the first places in the field events and scoring heavily in the others, the Red and Slate trackmen romped through the local high school track squad in their annual field and track meet last Friday. The collegians took the long end of the 60-35 result in this dual match which proved to be interesting although one-sided.

General Assembly Of Student Body Views Crisis In Education

Dr. Foster Speaks On The Three 'R's' of Plan For Recovery

WOULD CENTRALIZE

Dr. C. R. Foster, at a general assembly held at 9:50 in the gymnasium, Wednesday, November 14, 1934, spoke on the subject of the Three R's of Recovery.

The first of these three R's is the matter of the restoration of efficient teachers and of essential subjects that have been eliminated from the curriculum. Many districts employ local people alone regardless of their ability. More important than the three r's, reading, writing and arithmetic, are the subjects that have been and are being eliminated from the school program. For the most part these subjects have been introduced from outside the school.

The need for the reorganization of units of administration as a result of the changes in transportation and communication, is the second R. Earlier, townships were adequate enough because of the lack of transportation.

The third R is the revision of our present tax system. As it is now, eighty per cent of the burden of supporting public schools is placed on real estate. Real estate has forty per cent of the wealth. To tax intangible sources of wealth is a method proposed to remedy this situation.

The question of the "three r's," vitally important, will be considered in the next session of the legislature.

"STEAMER TEA" IS COMMERCIAL IDEA

The date for the launching of the Commercial steamer tea has been set for April 13. The business students have signed on as the crew for the voyage. They are more than anxious that a large number of people will enjoy such a novel expedition as this one promises to be.

Tea will be served on Decks 1, 2, and 3. There will be dancing in the ship's hallroom, and games will be played in the recreation rooms.

Margaret Keeler heads the activities as general chairman, with trice Keller, chairman, Lour asey and Kathryn Reichard con. ing the executive committee.

Dance-Pantomime Written By Faculty Member Is Feature

SYMBOLIC OF INDIANA

For the "Swing Out," on October 20, "In Quest of the Goddess Athena," a dance-pantomime, written by Edna Lee Sprowls will be presented. This bit of pageantry, a symbolic representation of the history of the college, will be performed on East campus at 8:00 in the evening for the alumni and visitors. An admission of 50 cents will be charged. Reserved cards will admit students and faculty to a performance which will be given Monday night, October 22.

Five Scenes Are Shown

The story-sketch of "In Quest of the Goddess Athena" follows:

Scene I. The forest primeval will be represented by a dancing group of "Trees." The Indians are there, William Penn and several English-men arrive, establish peace and friendliness with the Red Men. The spirit of the wilderness will be portrayed by Sylvania in solo dance. Penn is enchanted and wishes to name the place Sylvania. His friends persuade him to make the name Pennsylvania.

Scene II. Some early colonists trek toward settlement. Famine and Fever stalk their trail. Illness detains them. Death threatens them. But Faith comes, triumphantly saving the day. Famine and Fever are portrayed by two group dances.

Scene III. Benjamin Franklin studiously in search of knowledge

LOAN FUND IS ENLARGED AT CHRISTMAS DINNER

The Christmas dinner held in the College refectory was well attended and jolly and the decorations, when one considered the limited amount of money spent, were very pleasing and interesting. Much mirth was evident when the presents were opened after Mr. Neff had conducted the singing of Christmas carols.

Miss Esch, Registrar of the College, haa made available the following information concerning the contributions to the Students Loan Fund. There are approximately one thousand boarding students in the College. Each student contributed five cents toward the Student Loan Fund. CLUB MEETING IS IN DR. PERKINS' HOME

The Edwin Arlington Robinson Poetry Club held its monthly meeting at the home of Dr. Perkins on Thursday, February 1.

Around a cheerful fire were read and discussed the works of America's poets of new-found fame. The club was introduced to the poems of MacLeish, Dillon, Elliot, Selma Robinson, and other coming poets.

During the meeting the members had the opportunity of inspecting a number of poems, beautifully compiled, illustrated, and printed by members of the Art Department.

"For those students with a few minutes or hours to spare, the school lodge and the Dairy Dell were favorite gathering spots."

Smoking—Where, Why

Not only is it the traditional thing not to do, it is also a regulation passed by the Student Council making it the expressed desire of the majority of the student body that there shall be no smoking of any sort whatsoever on North Walk.

Why have a rule of this sort? There are several excellent reasons. In the first place North Walk is the most frequently used part of our campus, especially by our parents and visitors to Indiana; and first impressions often count the most and linger the longest in their minds. Too, the mere fact that cigarette butts hardly add to the decorative design and beauty of the campus should cause one to refrain from smoking where such a possibility exists. And last, but perhaps most important, smoking students can scarcely be considered as good examples for the training school youngsters before whom they must parade when walking on North Walk.

Need we ever mention this again?

Works Progress Administration Educational Museum Models Receiv[illegible] by College, Costume Plates, Puppets, Plaques, Included

Information Concerning Use May Be Obtained From Mr. Emmert

A number of Works Progress Administration Educational Museum Models have been received by the college. One division of the Works Progress Administration is engaged in producing educational museum models for use in the schools, to be distributed without cost except transportation charges to those institutions making proper application and signing certain agreements.

The State Teachers College at Indiana has received, and is using, costume plates depicting the evolution of costume from early times to the present day, marionettes, puppets, models of houses of different periods, plaque models of fishes, dioramas of Indian activities, models of oil wells and coal mines, and relief maps.

It is planned to make these materials available to faculty members and students for use in various classes and units of work. Persons wishing to secure information concerning these materials may obtain copies of the regulations under which they are distributed from Mr. Wilber Emmert.

Kelley's High Pass to Sariscak For a Touchdown Ties Score

Inspired by hundreds of home-coming alumni, the Indiana State Teachers College gridders came from behind in the fourth quarter and nosed out their ancient rivals from Slippery Rock, 7-6.

The margin of victory was achieved by the educated toe of Dick Groskos who re-entered the game following the tying touchdown. A 15-yard pass from Kelley to Sariscak, who leaped high in the air in the end zone to take the ball and score.

With 7 minutes left to play in the fourth quarter, Indiana started on its drive by taking a returned punt on the Rockets 41. A pass from Grundy to Kelley netted 15 yards putting the ball on the 26. On a reverse around left end Grundy picked up 12 yards placing the ball on the 14 yard mark. On the fourth down, Kelley back shot the oval into the waiting arms of Sariscak making the score.

Both teams battled back and forth

Record Attendance At Freshman Prom

To the sweet and swingy music of the versatile Laddie Timko and his broadcasting orchestra, over four hundred freshmen and guests of freshmen danced at the annual formal freshman promenade held on Saturday evening, February 26, from 9:30 until 11:00 in Recreation Hall.

The original 150 programs ordered for the affair were completely sold out Friday morning before the hop, making it necessary to re-order a similar number, the final attendance being a record for such an event.

Xylophone melodies furnished the musical background for the selections of this well accepted musical aggregation. On the faster side a group of the dancers broke into "The Big Apple" during the orchestra's fast rendition of "The Dipsy Doodle," "Jangled Nerves," and "White Heat." Out of the total of 42 selections, the interpretations of "Thanks for the Memories," and "Sweet as a Song" were well-liked as the slower tunes.

The capacity group went through a reception line composed of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Fausold, Miss Florence B. Kimball, Assistant Dean of Women, Mr. Donald Schwing, president of the first-year class and general chairman for the affair, and Miss Elizabeth Wege, vice-president.

During the intermissions delightful refreshments were served. Until 11 o'clock the proverbial punch-bowl was in existence and enjoyed great popularity, Mrs. Fulger presiding over it.

1939 OAK

A special publication early in the 1940's announced dramatic changes on the campus. Its title was stark: INDIANA AT WAR. Dean of Men Whitmyre supervised the seventy-four students and fifteen faculty members who registered under the first peace-time selective service law. Courses developed by the War Department and offered at Indiana were taken by naval aviation cadets and army glider pilots. Rifle practice was a daily activity. Before the conflict was over, the HONOR ROLL of service listed over eight-hundred names, including twenty-eight casualties. The wartime enrollment was "a sailor's paradise" with 659 women and 34 men; but "we had our letters and our memories," remarked one co-ed. A legacy of the Second World War was the return of the veteran to school, often with a wife and a family.

Athletics were curtailed during this period, but not before "the most impressive and thrilling victory ever attained by an Indiana basketball team" — a last minute, come-from-behind win over Westminster, the only undefeated quintet in Pennsylvania. Post-war honors went to Lewandowski, the first athlete to be three times elected to the State Teachers Conference first team. Spirit was sparked by the enthusiastic freshmen, doffing dinks and rendering, "Sing, Oh Sing, Our Alma Mater's Praise." A campus sight was their pajama parade. By the mid-fifties the enrollment was over 2,000.

"Clam up," "dig me," and "whistle bait" were slang expressions heard around the jukebox. Vaughn Monroe and his "Camel Caravan" made an appearance, while Baron Elliott played for many dances. The Erskine Club included railroad ties in its scavenger hunt, and Dottie Woods won the contest to name the Student Union with "Totem Pole." An extended debate concerned continuing the variety show "Laughter." Its demise was not missed, however, with the incomparable team of 'Mr. E.' and 'Mr. D.' producing musicals and the Old Minstrel Show featuring end-men File and McLuckie. After an activity there was always time for a plate of beans at Dean's Diner, whatever the hour. The regular dining hall menu might have included "Ma" Folger's creamed cauliflower on toast!

The late 40's began the 20-year presidency of Willis E. Pratt, which witnessed phenomenal college growth despite the destructive fire to Leonard Hall in 1952. "Bricks — Mortar" became the campus hallmark. Meanwhile, students protested compulsory convocations, preferred fiction during "Reading Daze," discussed "McCarthyism," and heard Supreme Court Justice William Douglas and former Prime Minister Clement Atlee speak on world peace. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was the honored speaker at a model United Nations, and General George Marshall addressed an alumni meeting. In 1950 the 75th Anniversary was celebrated and the ROTC program established.

The community participated in these programs and the Penn commented: "Indiana's people tend to go out of their way to provide a happy nine month home for more than 1500 students who are truly grateful for and proud of their college town." Both town and gown were probably relieved when the State Police announced they would take charge of the campus parking problem.

College Is One of Five Teacher Institutions on Association Select List

Indiana is now on the list of approved teachers colleges.

This information has just been sent to President King by the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the Middle States Association of Colleges. The Association accredits colleges in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and the District of Columbia. The recognition of Indiana comes as a climax to a program of educational advance sponsored by the present administration.

With this approval Indiana takes its place along with a select group of institutions approved by the Middle States Association or a similar body.

The application of Indiana for membership in the Middle States Association was made during the past summer and it was the first time such application was made. A report of approximately 200 pages was prepared, giving in detail the equipment, the personnel, and the execution of the program of teacher education. Doctor H. A. Sprague of the Montclair State Teachers College of New Jersey was sent as a representative of the Commission to survey the lo-

Record Shows Many Teachers Placed by ISTC

Of interest to Alumni and students of Indiana is the fact that practically 100% of our June graduates of 1941 have been placed in all departments. Such a great demand for teachers, it has been found, is due mainly to three factors. Vacancies have been created where regular teachers have accepted positions in industry, where teachers were called into army service, and where women teachers have married and resigned.

The greatest demand for teachers (not in order of the demand) has been in the Elementary, Home Economics, and Business Education fields.

The department most heavily affected by drawing graduates and students into positions other than teaching was the Business Education Department, many of whose students have not returned for this reason.

In addition to graduates of 1941 who secured positions, many former students who had been employed in other than teaching positions have been placed.

General Defence Council Plans Designate Shelters, Wardens, Bomb Squads

As its part in the civilian defense program, Indiana State Teachers College has been organized to cope with any air raid emergency. Under the leadership of W. M. Whitmyre, Dean of Men, plans have been drawn up which will provide the greatest possible amount of safety to the nearly 1500 people on the campus.

Each building has been studied carefully for dangers and possibilities of protection. An elaborate system of wardens, fire watchers, firemen, first aiders, and runners has been set up under the College Defense Council. Under the general Chairmanship of Mr. Whitmyre, are Mr. Ward Eicher, air-raid warden, Mr. Robert Timmons, first aid officer, Mr. George Miller, fire warden, and members of the Indiana Defense Council, Dr. King, Mr. John Davis, and Mr. William Schuster. Members of the faculty and staff, with student helpers, form the nucleus of the organization which includes every person on the campus.

Dean Whitmyre announces that instructions have been given on procedure in case of air raid emergency. Rules have been formulated for the evacuation of dangerous parts of buildings. Air raid alarm signals have been worked out. Practice air raid drills are being planned which will simulate actual raid conditons. The college will also participate in practice blackouts which may be ordered by the War Department.

Homecoming Cancelled

Homecoming has been one of the most exciting events at Indiana for years, but this year finds such a pretentious and expensive undertaking out of line with wartime policy.

Homecoming means the return of former students to their alma mater from all over the state. This is impossible for many of our former students who are in the armed services and serving far from home. Two fraternities, who welcomed the old grads in former years, have shut their doors for the duration. Most important of all is the plea of the government to stay home and take only absolutely eessential trips. Therefore ,the administration is justified in conserving its energies for the winning of the war and postponing Homecoming for the time when it will have a real meaning, the time when our boys really come home.

And It Came To Pass

Dr. Heiges' dramatic announcement last week on compulsory convocation created quite a stir on campus. We were warned last year that this was coming — and it has. All students must attend convocation at 10:00, every Tuesday morning. Students will be seated alphabetically in rows according to classes. Charts of the auditorium indicating the seating arrangement will be posted on all bulletin boards throughout the school. If more than two convocations are missed, the student is required to take an extra hour of work towards graduation.

to classes. Since this is the only opportunity for the student body to meet as a unit, we should be permitted to choose our own permanent seats among our friends. This would eliminate, to a great extent, the feeling that convocation was just another class. We also feel that the penalty of having to take an extra credit toward graduation is unethical. With our schedules filled to capacity now, why should we be overburdened with another graduation requirement?

The general feeling on campus is that the student council has let the student body down.

Fewer Teachers Create Demand

Cost of Living Rockets Over Salary Levels

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Decreased enrollment in teacher's colleges and normal schools is aggravating a serious shortage of qualified teachers, it is announced by the National Commission for the Defense of Democracy through Education. The Commission, which was created by the National Education Association at its Boston convention last July, points out that this teacher shortage threatens to undermine educational standards.

Enrollmeot in teachers' colleges and normal schools has declined as much as 29 percent in one state, with an average decline of 11 percent throughout the nation. An average 8 percent drop in enrollment at university schools of education is also reported.

Qualified teachers are forced to leave the classroom, for defense industries to obtain income in keeping with the rising costs of living, Alonzo F. Myers, Commission chairman, states. Since the war began, costs of living have gone up 11 percent, with food prices up 19 percent. During these two years, 12 million

Trottin' Poll Asks, "Should Freshmen Have Lights 'Til 11:00 More Often?"

Lights out everybody! It's 10:30! Yes, the freshmen girls have to be ready for the "Arms of Morpheus" at this unearthly hour. The freshmen don't like it. The upperclassmen partially agree with them. Do you think the freshmen should be allowed to have lights till 11:00, thereby lengthening the study hours from 7:30 to 10:00?

Ruth Grigsby ,a junior says, "If the freshmen have a lot of work to do, they should be allowed to keep their lights on till a reasonable hour. But this privilege shouldn't be abused by fooling around."

In The Den

The Girls' Smoker, more commonly known as the Den, also has its troubles with anti-socially minded customers. The smoking room committee is confronted with the problem of how to handle the "gimmes" — those girls who use the Smoker, but refuse to do anything to help clean it or keep it usable. Some of them even destroy the cards placed in the Den.

The Den is entirely a student enterprise, dependent upon the girls who use it for its maintenance, since no school funds are appropriated for its care. Rules for use of the Smoker are clearly printed and posted in the Den, but nevertheless these are not heeded by all who use the Den. Ash trays remain unemptied, coke bottles are not returned to the cases provided for them, and the room often is unswept and unkempt.

At first, cleaning of the Den was placed on a voluntary basis. Soon the girls' enthusiasm began to dwindle and the same girls found themselves doing all the work. The voluntary system was abolished in favor of a plan whereby girls using the Den regularly were responsible for tidying it up on certain days. This plan worked successfully until a few weeks before Thanksgiving vacation. The girls started their vacation early and haven't yet gotten back into the swing of things. Board Names Vet President; Comes From Penn State Post

● July 1, Dr. Willis E. Pratt, head of the department of education at Pennsylvania State College, will assume his duties as President of Indiana State Teachers College.

This World War veteran in his early forties was named Thursday, April 22, by the nine-member college board of trustees to succeed the late Dr. Joseph M. Uhler. The salary of the new president will be $8,000 with maintenance—the same arrangement under which Dr. Uhler served prior to his unexpected death last August 17.

Until Dr. Pratt assumes the presidency, Dr. Ralph E. Heiges will continue to carry on college activities as acting president. At that time, Dr. Heiges will return to his former position as dean of instruction, and Ralph B. Beard will resume his duties as assistant to Dr. Heiges.

Dr. Pratt, considered as one of the state's most outstanding educators was selected for the position from a large field of applicants. His name was presented to the board by its presidential investigating committee, composed of Attorney William Ruddock and John W. Neff, both of Indiana, and Cyrus W. Davis, Conemaugh.

Vim and Vigor

In commenting on Dr. Pratt's appointment, Dr. Williams, a co-worker in the Penn State Extension Center work, stated that Indiana's gain would be a great loss to Penn State. Dr. Williams remarked on Dr. Pratt's vim and vigor, saying that he was a good man to work with and that his post at ISTC would give him a great opportunity to put into practice his exceptional theories of pedagogy.

Cultural life brings Bernstein, Pittsburgh Symphony January 31

Nancy Wallace

Brilliant young Leonard Bernstein will conduct the concert by the Pittsburgh Symphony orchestra when it appears in Indiana's auditorium January 31 at 8:15 p. m. as one of the cultural life series programs.

Now in its twenty-second season and one of America's foremost musical organizations, the orchestra will be performing here for the fourth successive year. Previously, the symphony was under the baton of Dr. Fritz Renner, who retired at the end of last year's season. The orchestra is now embarking upon a guest-conductor policy and will present during the year Charles Muench, Artur Rodzinski, Erich Leinsdorf and Leonard Bernstein.

Bernstein was born in Lawrence, Massachusetts August 25, 1918. Majoring in music, he graduated from Harvard in 1939. For the next few years he continued his studies in piano and conducting. At the Berkshire festival he caught the eye of Rodzinski, who made Bernstein assistant musical director of the New York Philharmonic-symphony orchestra. On November 14, 1943, then the 25-year old conductor made his debut when he substituted for Bruno Walter who became suddenly ill. Bernstein was an immediate success.

He continued his career of conducting famous orchestra and was full-fledged conductor of the New York Philharmonic during the 1943-44 season. In 1945 he was appointed music director of the New York City Symphony. He has also toured Europe, conducting orchestras in Budapest, London, Vienna and Paris.

Bernstein has written several original compositions. The first was a symphony, "Jeremiah," which was performed in its world premiere, under the composer's baton, by the Pittsburgh Symphony in 1944. He has also written two ballets, "Fancy Free" and "Facsimile" and a musical show, "On the Town."

As an added feature for ISTC concert-goers, Bernstein will play a piano concerto with the orchestra. Admission to the program is by "I" card; individual tickets will go on sale at 8:00 p. m. the evening of the performance at the auditorium.

Naming of four previously unnamed college buildings was completed this morning in a special ceremony dedicating the campus structures to prominent Pennsylvania citizens who have been closely associated with the local institution.

In a convocation program featuring Harry F. Carson, president of the Indiana Board of Trustees as principal speaker, the auditorium, laboratory school, gymnasium, and arts building were respectively designated as the John S. Fisher Auditorium, John A. H. Keith School, David J. Waller Gymnasium, and Jane R. McElhaney Hall.

Originating at the gymnasium, each building was named in a separate dedication ceremony, and the assemblage moved to each of the other honored structures for the naming observance

Class Presents Plaques

Bronze identification plaques were presented to the college for each of the buildings by the graduating class of 1948. Markers for the older buildings were placed at the appropriate entrances last fall by this class, at which time representatives expressed the desire to provide markers for the remaining edifices Dr. Paul A. Risheberger, class sponsor, was present for the acceptance ceremonies today.

1447 Students Crash Gates At Indiana

This year, 1447 students have crashed the gates of Indiana to give it the largest enrollment since 1931. Thirty-five of these students are nurses or are farmed out from Penn State, under the secondary department. Another record has been set by having the largest male attendance than ever before, 600 in all. The college has an excess of about 200 students due to the present demand for higher education. Certain inconveniences, have been imposed on both the student body and faculty, but the dministration thought it best to keep these minor hindrances and keep the extra 200 students, and

Capable Registrar, Mary Esch Coordinates Vital Activities

Tom C. Miller

● In our previous articles, we have proven there is much important, vital work going on behind the scenes. This work, as we have shown, is being contributed by both the faculty and the student body members. This week, in order to further prove that every group on campus is carrying its share of the load, we have chosen one of the hard-working administrative staff members.

Unable to pry this bustling member of the distaff side from her desk even for a brief interview, this is our first "on-the-spot" report. Introducing Mary L. Esch, Registrar and a graduate of our own business education department.

Miss Esch came to ISTC as assistant to the Registrar shortly after her graduation from college. She remained in this capacity for a period of two years, then took over full duties as Registrar. Editorial

It seems that 1443 ISTC students are mistaken when they believe that their "I" cards guarantee them admittance to all sports events at the college.

And judging from the apparent worthlessness of the activity cards at the last two basketball games played in Waller gym, no one could criticize the Brave supporters for questioning the $12.50 per semester activities fee.

We have some questions. The answers would set a lot of sports-minded Indians straight.

Why are extra tickets sold to outsiders when the result is that "I" card holders must be turned away from games?

Exactly what does an "I" card mean to its owner?

Are any gymnasium improvements being considered, especially replacing of the space-wasting bleachers?

We feel that these questions should be answered and that the answers should be published.

Court settlement grants $75,000 to ISTC for scholarship fund

In a five to two decision, Pennsylvania supreme court granted to Indiana state teachers college an additional $75,000 tax free from the estate of Corrinne Menk Wahr for use in scholarships to worthy students.

Final settlement of the Wahr estate has been under litigation for several years. Beneficiaries, which included educational institutions of which Indiana was named, and private parties, disagreed to the division of the residue. The institutions were in favor of dividing the estate before taxes were taken out since their share of the estate would be tax exempt. Private parties argued for division after taxes were taken out.

Inflation strikes as nickel cokes go up to a dime

The upperclass gals have returned this year prepared with pocketfulls of nickels to use in the coin machines around campus. However, even Jane Freshman may have been quite surprised that the coke machines in the dorm wouldn't accept her five-cent piece. They wanted the inflationary-price of ten cents. For one coke!

Even the coffee vendor boasts a large sign '10c'. Poor Jane has to turn to the candy bars as a last resort. Won't her roommate be overjoyed when she receives a clark bar instead of the ordered coke? Well, that's all she can get for what she has to spend! What's the reason for the rise in coke prices? That's something that all of use would like to find out. It was all that last year's frosh could do to scrape up a nickle; these gals are now discovering what Pop meant when he talked about inflation and such things usually so unimportant to them.

At any rate, Daddy was pleased to hear that through this 'ridiculous' jump in prices, his gals have come to understand at least a fragment of his preachings. There's just one solution; that is to buy one less coke now and then —cuts down on the calories too— try it, the loss can easily be made up.

Shakespeare garden planned, students, faculty aid project

Harriett Calhoon

Indiana's campus will be brightened soon by a Shakespeare garden, commemorating different flowers and shrubs mentioned in writings of the Bard.

Located at the rear of Wilson library, the garden will be graded, landscaped, and planted in the near future.

Elizabeth Castner and Dan Belli of the college are going through a Shakespeare concordance to make a list of the plants mentioned, and the quotations where they appear. The garden club will be responsible for planting the flowers and placing signs bearing the quotations near them.

President of the garden club, Mrs. Boyd Bennett, has appointed a committee which includes college president, Dr. Willis E. Pratt. Co-chairmen are Dr. and Mrs. Harry Burton Boyd. A. O. Rasmussen of State College and W. C. Cockrane, Indiana county agent, are advisors in planning. The English and Art departments of the college will be working on the project, and all interested persons are invited to help.

The garden, it is hoped, will awaken new interest in the reading of Shakespeare's works.

At their final plenary session Friday, March 30, at 11 a.m., the student delegates to the Middle-Atlantic Model United Nations General Assembly heard an address by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt in her address sketched the responsibilities of member nations in the United Nations organization in relation to their position in today's world. Stressing the obligations and goals of the United States as a leader in international affairs, Mrs. Roosevelt appealed to her student audience to accept its responsibility in today's and tomorrow's world.

A period of twenty minutes following her speech was allowed by Mrs. Roosevelt for the answering of questions from the audience. She graciously responded to every inquiry raised by the delegates.

Mrs. Roosevelt's address won a standing ovation from her audience.

For three days 360 students from 47 eastern United States colleges lived as delegates to the United Nations on Indiana's campus.

Plunging into their full schedule of committee meetings, caucuses, and assemblys, the students worked long strenuous hours debating and passing resolutions to further the work of their ,model United Nations assembly.

Incomparable team stages sixth hit

Judy Eckstein

Six years ago the uncomparable team of Davis and Ensley directed the first big Swing-out musical. Each year they think the present show is the best but maybe they secretly lean toward this one because it's really new.

Last spring plans were started for a 'Year and a Dame.' Over the summer the words and music were written. Since then at least three scenes have been totally rewritten and two others have been added. Mr. Ensley and Mr. Davis worked with the 'Dame' writers. Wire tapes were sent back and forth until the show was finished.

it appears with new lyrics. This year it is written by Cooper, the writer of this year's show.

All the rest of the music in a 'Year and a Dame' is original.

There is more music, more sets and more people in the show than have been in any of the other 6 productions. There are two choruses, the Harriet Chorus of 8 and the hostess chorus of 14. The eight sets range from a telephone booth to an old mansion. All the scenery flies on rolls. Several of the larger drops were ordered from Amelia Green in New York. The tunes produced in a Swing-out show. For the first time there is a dancing duet composed of Jackie Garnic and Jack Brenton.

Five twelve hour days were put on working on the set. The only casualties were four smacked thumbs. First aid took the form of six band aids.

PENN gives vote of thanks to local citizens

Living in a tightly knit campus community, ISTC students find themselves in a situation entirely different from home surroundings.

Since the majority of our contacts are with members of the college family, it is easy to tend to forget townspeople—until we need their help—and then we realize how dependent we are upon them.

What would we 'Indians' do without faculty members and faculty wives to advise, assist and pinch hit for us? And how welcome it is indeed to have a home opened to you when you haven't been inside one for 2 or 3 months.

Homecoming and 'Swing Out' find students backed by the town merchants all the way with their advertising banners and free window space for posters, while donations of cardboard, lumber and paint are indispensible around 'laughter' and 'carnival' time.

Backed by town citizens at the athletic events, ball players find those filled bleachers and extra voices a welcome added support.

Dramatics and music students appreciate too the additional attendance at plays and concerts.

If any 'Indian' ever thought ISTC needed no outside assistance, might we say 'who do you think maintains your campus, prints your publications and sends their children to your lab school'?

When this writer entered ISTC more than 3 years ago an attitude of distrust toward 'those college students' seemed to emerge from Indiana citizens, but that was either a false opinion, or 'things have really changed'.

Now Indiana's people tend to go out of their way to provide a happy nine month home for more than 1500 students who are truly grateful for and proud of their 'college town'.

"Visually pleasing, the show was a delight to the ear as well. Flaws were few as an enthusiastic cast provided almost three hours of pure delight."

Administration answers article

Some question has been raised about the decision of the college administration to increase the enrollment at the college to 2100 in September in view of the shortage of housing for the accommodation of students. The decision to expand the college has been made after careful and deliberate consideration of all the available data.

The sole function of the college is to prepare teachers for the public schools of Pennsylvania. As everyone knows the teacher shortage in Pennsylvania at the present time is acute. It seems imperative, therefore, that the college utilize all its current resources to accommodate the largest student body possible with the instructional facilities at its command. With the efficient use of its classroom and laboratory space and with the employment of 11 additional staff members next year it was concluded that the college could accommodate 2100 students at that time.

The college has also considered the great increase in demand for admission. Those who graduate from high school this year would appear to have the same right to be admitted to a public college as those who graduated in 1953, 1954 or 1955. It seems unfair to deny the opportunity of a college education to many students only because they have graduated from high school a year or two later than others.

The college has not been insensitive to the need for additional housing. In the past four years the college has added housing space for 416 students. This has been accomplished by the erection of Whitmyre hall, the conversion of Thomas Sutton hall for dormitory use, the purchase of the Fleming house and the leasing of the Grant house, Locust house, Washington house and Lowman house. Appeals have also been made to the state legislature for additional dormitories. These requests are now reflected in legislation which is now being considered.

The administration of the college regrets that it must inconvenience some students through the necessity for their finding their own housing accommodations. In view of the larger good in making it possible for many to attend college who otherwise would be denied the privilege, and in view of the fact that almost the total cost of instruction is paid by the Commonwealth, this inconvenience for some students would not appear to be unjust.

Mr. Miller became head of the health and physical education department in 1938 after the resignation of Everett Sanders. He continued as director of athletics until 1951 when, due to failing health, he handed that position over to Sam Smith.

Rose Ann Jubeck

This year Reading Days are to be held on October 26, 1955 and March 14, 1956, for one day during each period. No other activities are scheduled at the college during each of these days; therefore, each student is encouraged to engage in some form of free reading.

Reading Days is essentially a voluntary affair. Past experience has proven that most students appreciate time being alloted for the opportunity of leisure reading. As Dr. Lore, co-chairman of the program, stated, 'This gives us all an opportunity to get a breather in the middle of a busy semester.'

This program should emphasize vicarious learning which comes largely through reading. Secondly, it should provide a time for thoughtful reading and study. In the third place, it should provide an opportunity for intensive use of the library by many students who do not ordinarily avail themselves.

Douglas, Attlee Ask Bold Plans For Peace

Douglas Hits Asian Policy Attlee Wants World Gov't.

Calling himself a "man of visions" and a "dreamer of dreams," Earl Clement Attlee, former Prime Minister of Great Britain, speaking to students, faculty, and guest at Fisher Auditorium, November 30, called for a "world government based on law."

The graying statesman said there is no alternative to the elimination of sovereign states except chaos. He called the plan for World Government workable, desirable, and necessary

Attlee called for a voluntary surrender rights in only one area, the opportunity to precipitate war. He asked for a world police force comprised of citizens who will owe their loyalty to the world

The Honorable William O. Douglas, associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, spoke to a capacity crowd of students and guests in Fisher Auditorium last December 2. The famed justice, world traveler, and author criticized American foreign policy in Asia.

Douglas called for a program of aid centered around a design to raise the Asiatics living standard. Modern airfields are incongrous next to the squalor of mud huts Douglas said. He urged the sending of technicians, engineers, and agricultural experts instead of military missions.

Indians defeat Pitt 5-4; error in ninth wins game

Sam Aven

An unearned run in the last of the eighth inning gave Indiana its first win of the baseball season at Memorial field Monday afternoon, and its first victory over Pitt in a long, long time.

Indiana grabbed an early four run lead in the second inning and hung on tenaciously for a 5-4 win despite a ninth inning uprising by Pitt which netted two runs.

Ron Moog, Pitt's pitcher who is supposed to be one of Pitt's finest prospects since the 1940's was tagged with the loss. It must have been a heart-breaker as Moog gave up only four hits and struck out 11 Indiana batsmen. It just happened that all of the Indians' hits

Error wins game

Indiana scored its winning run in the eighth when Crossan walked and was sacrificed to second by Clemenson. Bizyak then grounded out, moving Crossan to third. The winning run scored when the Pitt first baseman let Gooderham's easy grounder go through his legs.

Pitt didn't score until the sixth inning when an error, a fielder's choice, a solid single to left, another fielders choice, and a double to right netted Pitt its first two

Changes in women's privileges, as proposed by the judicial board and approved by administrative council will go into effect after March 9 according to Delores Cassidy, president of board.

New rules are as follows:

Shampoo room in John Sutton will be open until 11 pm Monday through Saturday.

Girls attending large formal school dances, such as proms, ROTC, panhellenic and interfraternity, will have 1:00 am permissions.

Hours for baths and showers in women's dormitories have been extended until 11:00 pm every night.

It is stressed by Women's Collegiate Association that these rules do not go into effect until girls are given further notice by hall presidents.

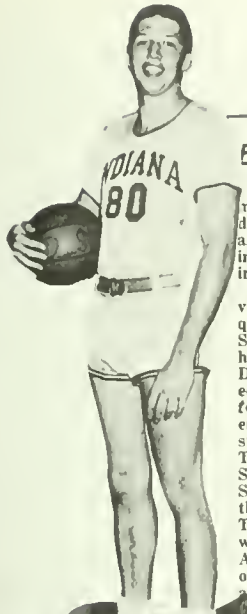
INDIANA SALUTES



EDITORIALS

Behind every advancement or improvement there is someone who is directly or indirectly responsible. This person is a leader and must possess certain qualities such as initiative, aggressiveness, dependability, tact, intelligence, and character.

As you undoubtedly realize, there are very few people who possess the mentioned qualities or the many not mentioned. Indiana State Teachers College is indeed fortunate in having a president who has these qualities—Dr. Willis E. Pratt. In the decade he has served as president, great progress has been effected at Indiana. In the last ten years college enrollment has increased from 1400 to 2688 students and the staff from 85-147 members. The college was reaccredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and was utilized as a college by the American Association of Teacher Education [illegible] standards which are now [illegible] country. University — Dec. 16, 1965, former Governor William W. Scranton signed the bill transforming Indiana State College to Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Indiana Evening Gazette ★★ EDITION

GLENN RECOVERED FROM ATLANTIC AFTER 3 ORBITS; SAID EXCELLENT

THE MOST DELIRIOUS moment in Forbes Field's half a century occurred on October 13, 1960, when Bill Mazeroski clouted a ninth-inning homer to give the Pirates a 10-9 victory over the Yankees and the world championship, four games to three

George Swetnam, staff writer for the Pittsburgh Press, wrote in 1966: "The top Cinderella story in American education this year is right here in the Pittsburgh district — the Indiana University of Pennsylvania . . . with every prospect of becoming one of the great educational institutions in America." Indiana became a State College in 1960, inaugurating a liberal arts program; the Graduate School, under the leadership of its first dean, I. Leonard Stright, developed masters and doctoral level degrees. Governor Scranton's signature on the university act just confirmed these developments. When 1,904 students signed Dr. Pratt's birthday card it was a way of saying, "Thank you." The current president, William W. Hassler, has maintained the same student rapport with students serving on the President's Cabinet and taking part in "rap" sessions in the Union.

Anti-war demonstrations, Earth Week, and freedom to choose a "life style" were issues approached in a concerned manner; but putting soap in the fountains, being upset over lights in the Oak Grove, and electing a male student as Homecoming Queen were signs that the times were not all serious. Nancy Noker, the Clark Hall switchboard operator, reported that "between six and eight o'clock it's just me and Dan Cupid working."

Senators Inouye (Hawaii) and Mansfield (Montana) spoke at the Public Affairs Forum; "1776" brought laughter to a history lesson; and the Pittsburgh Chamber Orchestra spent a week in residence. Professor Bernat's "thoughtful and moving" composition in tribute to John F. Kennedy received national acclaim. Charlie Scott of Sioux City, Iowa, saw the IUP marching band on national television during the half-time of a pro-football game and wrote to the Penn: "You have the most marvelous band I have seen perform."

The athletic program during these years was superb: a national championship in golf; All-Americans in football, basketball, and baseball; and teams regularly winning conference crowns and participating in post-season play, with a trip to the Boardwalk Bowl as the high point.

"Dial access" brought the classroom to the dormitory, "pass-fail" became a grading option, and the library purchased the complete record of the British Houses of Parliament. Susan Heberling received a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship. Of far-reaching significance was the ruling that college students could vote in their college towns. Duke Ellington gave a concert in Fisher shortly before his death, and one student said of Dionne Warwick, "I knew she was good, but not that good." An EKO six-string acoustic guitar provided contemporary entertainment, and for nostalgia there was a Marx Brothers film festival and a dance marathon. "Women's Lib" attracted attention and so did Becky Abbas, who won a Raquel Welch Look Alike Contest. Our own Linda Kay Olson became Miss Pennsylvania and later was named second runner-up in the Miss America pageant.

While it may have seemed true to some that social security numbers were more important than names and "head count" more significant than education, Indiana, at heart, was and continues to be a human institution responding to human needs. In the words of Mrs. Dorothy Cogswell, "Give to her our homage and our love, and to her name be true."

For those of you who are in a quandry as to what to buy your dear ones for Christmas (and who isn't?), may I suggest the following list

Girls are always swamped with perfumes, clothes, and cute little toys, so this year give her something she's always wanted, such as: a football to keep her weight down, a real, live bear instead of an imitation one, a refill for her cartridge pen; three pennies for her penny collection; a book on the various moods of men; or a light bulb to replace the burned-out one in her desk lamp

For the men who always receive socks, ties, shirts, and cuff-link sets, this year give him something unusual. Leading your list could be such gems as: a razor-less razor; a do-it-yourself barber kit; a year's subscription to Esquire; a record by the Metropolitan Opera Company; or a book on life in a girl's dorm

The Cultural Life Committee has given the students on Indiana's campus many memorable moments of entertainment in the thirty years of its exristance. The committee was organized to replace the Leonard Literary Society in the early 1930's. The Leonard Literary Society had become obsolete and the Cultural Life Committee was organized to replace it.

Originally the schedule contained ten programs usually staring soloists and speakers. But over the years the student attitude has changed. So, as a result, we have only six programs a season featuring bigger names with a preference toward groups.

Profs Vary on Attendance

by Colleen Long Distans

They say one is never satisfied with his surroundings until he's ready to die or already dead. However, as yet I have seen no corpses lying around the grove or east campus, though I have heard heated discussions on ISC's policies, and this heat hasn't come from the dorm's room temperatures!

One of the war cries chanted by ISC's squaws and braves is that regarding student attendance at classes. This is a loud squack and one we feel is justly so. Why, in the name of Geronimo, are we forced to attend classes or else have the instructor take his hatchet to our grade?

This act not only affects the shape of our course letter, but many times our heads and hearts as well! At any rate, we base the above question on this: why should a student waste his time attending a class in which the instructor offers nothing pertinent in his lecture either by being a teacher who cannot put his information across, or else deviates from the subject. Many times a student can get all or as much information about the subject outside of class.

Also, we are all paying to go to this school—it is our own money we are spending—so we should have [illegible] from the [illegible] experiences, classes, [illegible] ities we have here.

[illegible] is ridiculous and unfair [illegible] dent to attend classes if he is sick or just not feeling well enough to be there. 'Bring Back Benches' Plead ISC Squirrels

By TERRY FYE

Did you know that the famed squirrels of the Indiana campus can talk? Well, neither did I, until the other day when I discovered that they not only have the power of speech, but that they also are rather perturbed about certain events which have occurred on our campus.

It happened last Friday, while I was strolling across campus, taking in the beautiful spring day. Suddenly a small voice cried out, "Hey, you! Stop! We want to talk to you." Turning around, I looked to see who had called me; but strangely enough, no one was in sight. I felt that I must have been imagining things, so I continued on my way. Just then, two of the campus squirrels scampered up in front of me and sat there looking at me. Imagine my surprise when one of them said, "Slow down, please. Didn't you hear me say that we wanted to talk to you?"

"O-Oh, certainly," I stammered, "I was just waiting for you to come out in the open. What did you want to speak to me about?"

The squirrel replied, "First of all, let us introduce ourselves. I am Indy, and this is my wife, Anna. We understand that you are a writer for the Indiana Penn and we want you to publish a protest for us."

"A protest from squirrels?," I asked. "What in the world would you have to complain about?"

"It's a long story," replied Indy. "It concerns the actions of many of the students these past few days. As you know, it is spring now and this is the time of the year when young men's fancies likely turn to what the girls have been thinking about all winter. You know what I mean. I believe you call it romance or love or something. Well, anyway, let me continue. I don't mind their romancing, but there has to be a limit to it somewhere. The main reason why we're complaining is because everybody is using our trees to lean a[gainst] the day. There is [irrit]e squirrel. [ba]ck to hide [that] his young just because those two young kids are blocking our doorway. THERE HAS GOT TO BE A STOP TO IT!"

"I see," I answered. "But if that is all you have to complain about, then there is nothing I can do to help you."

"Hold it, sonny," Indy shouted. "That is the least of our wor[ries]. The main grudge we bear co[ncerns] something else. What we are[all] up in arms about is what g[oes on] night between nine and ten. Just as soon as we get to s[leep] the night, out come four [or five] girls, giggling and laughing [on their] way to the union. That o[f course] keeps us awake for awhile. N[ow] er do we get back to sleep, th[en the] girls come back; but this time [they] are accompanied by their gentl[emen] friends. Sure enough! They sto[p] rectly under our trees to kiss [and] night. Believe you me, when y[ou have] ten or twelve couples all kiss[ing] the same time, it really [is] nerve-wracking. Now do y[ou see] why we are peeved?"

I had to admit that Indy ha[d] his point. But I was still puzzled, so I asked him, "Ho[w] you suggest we remedy th[is situ]ation?"

The squirrel hopped around a few minutes, then he replied, "It's quite simple, really. All you have to do is get the benches brought back to esst campus. That way, the kids will have a place to sit and spoon, and we squirrels will not be disturbed. This is my final warning to all the students. Either you start being a little more cooperative with the squirrels or you will be sorry. We spend our lives working for peanuts around here, and what do we get? I'll tell you, the only things we ever get are insomnia and noise. Remember, if things don't soon change, all the squirrels are going to pack up and head for a place where we will be appreciated."

That, fellow students, is the experience that I had with the talking squirrels. I feel certain that Indy has made his point. Now it is essential that we do as he suggested, so we will have the squirrels here

Indians Defend PSCC NAIA Trophies

Last season Indiana State College boasted of one of the finest small college baseball teams in this part of the nation. They won not only the Pennsylvania State Colleges championship, but also the NAIA trophies denoting State and Regional supremacy.

Today at Braves Field the Big Indians open up a new season with indications that another successful campaign is in the offing. St. Vincent College of Latrobe invades Indiana for a big doubleheader starting at 1:30.

Although this is strictly an exhibition date it should provide a good test of strength for the ball club and possibly tell the story of things to come. Tentative pitching assignments show Ted Holtz starting the first one and Ray Gaul making the second.

LAUNCH FAILS TO MOVE PROFS

History was made before the eyes of millions of Americans last Tuesday when Lt. Col. John Glenn was the first American to endure the rigors of space travel.

Among these millions were several thousand ISC students. They crowded into the housemother's apartments, filled the dormitory lounges, the Union, the Leonard Hall TV rooms, and even the stores downtown. The coffee shop looked as though amorous-minded had invaded the daytime hours; but actually everyone was intently watching the TV.

Many cut all their classes so they could watch Glenn. The instructors that were really "on the ball" excused their classes in order that students could watch the little "animator" whiz off the seconds.

It is amazing, however, that some word didn't come from the administration permitting students to watch this momentous occasion. What is more amazing is the fact that certain instructors, i.e., ROTC, some math, and some science, among others, to whom this is extremely relevant, did not take their own initiative. One instructor was extremely infuriated that a person was even listening to the "splash" in his (her) class.

Since an event like this happens so infrequently, and it is so seldom that students show anything but apathy for a world event, it is our opinion that anyone interested should have had the chance to learn, to be educated through the wonders of our modern world, radio and television.

KEEP THE BEER IN THE BARS . . .

According to the survey taken at registration, drinking is one of the less serious problems on our campus. However, although it is not a serious problem, it is one that is worth earnest attention by all students, especially male.

The finer point of the college's stand on this is that students may not drink on campus, in fraternity houses, or in rented apartments or rooms.

Students over 21, male or female, may drink at any of the local establishments of this sort as long as they conduct themselves properly.

Recently several students have been suspended for periods from two weeks to the remainder of the semester. The administration is omnipotent.

Even when business groups have conferences at the college during summer, they are not permitted on campus with liquor.

The person, according to the college administration, who rents the apartment is responsible for all actions which take place in it.

Scandalous Rumors True, But Not True

by Aggie Curran

Rumor has it that Tom Beach, sophomore in the Social Studies Department has been playing havoc with a bar maid, and Kay Lang, sophomore in the English Department has been tampering with the lights

As the revised adage goes, "Give clarification where clarification is due," Kay Lang and Tom Beach are the romantic leads in the forthcoming play, She Stoops to Conquer, under the direction of Mr Robert Engley

Sorry the rumor has been a disappointment but the truth of the matter is Tom Beach is not really a roving Casanova; he just portrays the part of a Don Juan beneath silk top hat and tails that distinguished the English gentlemen of the period.

Playing the part of Marlowe, a dedicated scholar, he tries to win the heart of Miss Hardcastle, played by Kay Lang Miss Hardcastle is a saucy, quick-witted and wealthy girl whose motto could easily be, "I've got him right under my wing "

Does she have him under her wing or is the scholarly, English gentleman too clever for words? Does the proxy marriage arranged by the fathers' of Marlowe and Miss Hardcastle become a reality under under the spotlight or do they part in grief as the curtain lowers at the close of the fifth act?

Mistakes, everyone makes mistakes; but picture Tom Beach mistaking a prominent squire's house for an inn, and better yet, mistaking the squire's daughter for a bar maid. Well,. . .you have it. . .Mistakes of a Night or She Stoops to Conquer, being presented Nov. 16, 17 and 18 at 8:15 in Fisher Audi-

Music, News And Sports For College On Radio Show

'Grooveology 63' on WDAD is the radio program designed especially for the students of ISC. It presents music, news, weather and sports views from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. on the local radio station.

Professor John Vincze who is responsible for this latest class, features all types of music, pops, jazz, big band and classic, to please his listeners.

Besides music, Jolly John also presents the Campus Calendar at 11:30 nightly which lets everyone know what will be happening on the ISC campus. For the sports minded listeners Grooveology features the sports editor of the Penn at 11:00. Norm Amorose brings all the Big Indian sports news from varsity to girls intramural. The "Sports Munk" also includes interviews of a Big Indian from the campus to add a personal touch.

Also planned for Grooveology is a sorority night which would include an interview with one of ISC's ten national sororities. Anyone interested in this please send a post card including the name of the sorority to WDAD.

All of this adds up to three hours of listening enjoyment for Indiana State College students.

The completion of the new addition to the ISC Student Union is tentatively scheduled for September of this year according to Mitch Bell, Student Council President, and Dr. Willis E. Pratt, President of the college.

Various facilities for Student operated organizations will be housed on the top floor of the existing building. The Penn, Oak, and Student Council offices will be located in the area behind the existing bookstore.

A combination banquet room and lounge which can also be converted into three meeting rooms will dominate the space now occupied by the present bookstore. Walnut paneling and contemporary furnishings will provide the decor for the room. Adjoining this multi-purposed room will be a food preparation room that will be equipped to serve 200 people.

The existing student lounge, Cooperative Assoc office and bank will remain the same.

Enrollment Reaches 4302; Tops Old Mark

For the ninth consecutive year, enrollment at ISC has reached a record high. A total of 4,302 full time students are enrolled at the college for the 1963-64 academic year, according to Mary L. Esch, registrar.

This number includes 4,114 studying on the main campus, 72 full time students enrolled at the Armstrong County Center in Kittanning, 93 registered at the Punxsutawney Center, and 23 student nurses.

The 4,302 figure represents an increase of approximately 500 students over the enrollment of 3,808 for 1962-63 college year.

In addition to the 4,302 full time students enrolled at Indiana, there are 140 part time students taking courses. It is also anticipated that approximately 200 additional students will enroll for Saturday classes on September 21, making the total part time enrollment approximately 350. Pan Hel Charters Omega Phi As New Sorority

by GEORGANNE SHAFFER

The latest thing in sorority hats—blue and white. The colors are being worn this year by the Omega Phi's, the new local sorority. Pan-Hellenic Association and Dean Newkerk have worked together to begin a new group to accommodate the growing number of female students on the campus.

Charter membership contains 20 sophomores and two juniors.

Bonnie Baker, Sigma Kappa Pan-Hel representative, has been working as chairman of the organization of the Omega Phi's. The Commuter's Lounge and the Blue Room have been the rooms used by the girls for organizational meetings.

Royal Blue and White are their colors and the White Carnation is their official flower. Work was begun on their constitution and officers were elected.

The girls elected to the task of giving the sorority a firm foundation are: Ellie Portler, president; Lois Kaufman, vice president; Joanne Brown, corresponding secretary; Billie Adamchik, recording secretary; Pat Fahl, treasurer; and Barb Goodall, rush chairman.

Rush season will be run on the same pattern and in cooperation with the other sororities. The Omega Phi's may take as high as 20 girls in their spring pledge class.

Omega Phi hopes to serve the same purpose as the other sororities on campus, to promote scholarship, to work on community service projects and to hold social functions.

In perhaps a year the girls will be petitioned by the national sororities to join their organizations. They may also decide to remain a local group.

Lefty Raymond's Put 'Off Limits'

Lefty Raymond's cafe has been placed "off limits" to all ISC students, according to the Dean of Studens Office.

The edict reads, "Students at Indiana State College are bereby notified that from this date, Nov. 8, 1961, the following establishment in in Indiana Boro is considered off limits to college students at all times: Lefty Raymood's, 547 Philadelphia Street."

The Disciplinary Boarc also wishes to emphasize to the student body that any students found on campus in an intoxicated condition will be suspended from school.

Several students were suspended last week for this reason.

The six men who entered Suttop Hall several weeks ago were also apprehended and placed on strict social probation.

Sen. Pechan's Bill Set '65 Would Convert ISC to State U.

Let's Cut The Curfew

Also in last week's Penn appeared the headline, "New Hours For Senior Women Set By Judicial Board". This is truly a step in the right direction of liberalizing the hours of all girls at ISC.

A progressive school such as ISC needs a liberal system. e administrator of the college seemed to coin the appropriate ase when he wrote, "I think that 10 o'clocks for college girls about as archaic as Chaucer's Enghsh would be as today's ken English."

The average coed at ISC is not a pervert. She has suppos- been taught the proper morals in her earlier environment. will, in most cases, carry her previous training to college h her. The college cannot be expected to teach the girls hat they should have learned at home.

Is our policy on "hours" supposed to match that of other Pennsylvania State Colleges or should ISC be a leader in the movement toward a more liberal and independent system? Why not? We far surpass all the other Pennsylvania State Colleges n size, scholastic rating, and prestige, and we should also set the example on girls' hours by at least giving it a chance. ll, you don't know, if you've never tried!

Dr. Ianni Replies To Letter; Student Apathy Hit Again

Dear Editor:

In his response to my lecture on the ISC student, Mr Tom Unger provides a perfect illustration of the results of one of the attitudes which I deplored in my lecture. In accusing ISC professors (all of them, apparently, as I read him) of making hasty generalizations, he reveals his blanket devaluation of the college as a result of the unwholesome attitude he brought to it.

As a sophomore, Mr. Unger could not have had as instructors more than 25 of the 270 some professors here. I doubt that he is in a position to assess the quality of their generalizations. If he makes this sort of statement often, that may explain why his instructors have not relished his participation in class.

Even more unfortunate is his feeling that he must use the title "student" losely to apply it to his fellow ISCers I doubt that many, if any, professors feel this way about our student body.

I chose the topic I did for my lecture because I feel that self-devaluation by ISC students badly damages their academic performance. I believe to ISC students; I would guess (Mr. Unger please not, "guess") that most other professors do too—what a shame that so many students do not believe in themselves and each other.

To those who are concerned with "challenge" may I say, you are right, it is a great benefit for a student to be challenged by a professor But this is a benefit, not a necessity. I suspect you mean that somehow the professor will make you want to think harder and learn more I doubt that this is possible as a constant policy.

Ultimately, a student must challenge himself—by which I mean that he must set his own standards of what and how much he wants to know. The difference between human beings and other animals is that we can set our own goals. At the dog tracks, they use a mechanical rabbit to induce the dogs to run. To want the intellectual equivalent of a mechanical rabbit is not to want a challenge but to want a debilitating security.

Dr. Hassler Sets Forth New Administration Plans

By Elaine Lytle

One of the underlying currents of Dr William Hassler's discussion in the SUB Viewpoint lecture, January 30, was a desire for a close, informal relationship between the student body and the administration This idea is reflected in Dr Hassler's reorganized cabinet which is advisory but whose suggestions can be implemented easily

This cabinet is composed of four segments the academic deans, the faculty, operations and, for the first time, students There are seven or eight student representatives which will meet once a month J Bracken Burns and Trevor Hadley are the coordinators of the group The in chosen to represent the those with broad ith responsible po dent affairs The ard to provide a communicat project for intensive study, the third term would last from February through May

Concerning the new grade point system, to which both the first grade and the grade received for a course repeated are accounted for in the cumulative average, Dr Hassler felt it was sensible and viable But it is still being evaluated and he welcomes any comments from the student body The President stood for the abolishment of the present cut system, assuming that the student should know what is adequate for his education

Dr Hassler has also investigated the pass-fail system of grading Through his contacts with employers and graduate and professional schools it becomes evident that the ABCDF system of grading is more highly regarded by these institutions than the pass-fail system The pass-fail grades for free courses, however seems feasible

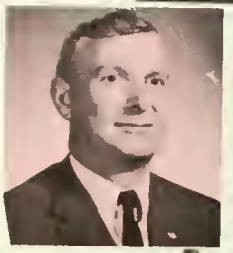
At a meeting of the Board of Trustees on Feb. 17, Dr. R... Morris was appointed Director of the Center for International Studies at IUP. The purpose of the Center is to train students interested in working in the field of international affairs.

Each year nearly 300 junior foreign service officers are recruited by the State Department. About 30,000 Americans are employed overseas, 1,000 of whom are junior executives recruited annually from recent graduates of our colleges and universities. American religious and philanthropic organizations offer positions that double the above figures and the federal government requires an ever increasing number of people qualified for international service. The demand for students of international affairs is reflected in higher education as American colleges and universities attempt to locate professors qualified to offer such a program.



Most institutes for international affairs are graduate programs exclusively. Comparatively few American colleges and universities maintain undergraduate centers for international studies.

SMITH FIRST IUP GRADUATE IN NFL

By Jed Weisberger Sports Editor

The Pittsburgh Steelers reduced their roster to the required 40 men last Wednesday. We all, in this area, wondered whether IUP graduate Dave Smith would be dropped, or would he finally have made the team as everyone hoped. The cut was announced and Smitty was announced a Pittsburgh Steeler. Bobby Tate, Mickey Watson, and Barry Ruffner, had previously been cut by the pros in bids to crack NFL lineups.

Smith has been used by the Steelers as a wide receiver his ability to catch the ball in a crowd was one of the top talents that helped Smitty make the team. Coach Lionel Taylor also emphasized that Smith's blocking and hands were sure pro credentials. Taylor was a perennial All-Pro with the Denver Broncos and should know what he is talking about. Smith showed these traits in his performances in the preseason games.

Board Approves New University Structure

(IUP P R Office) A new organizational structure recently approved by the Board of Trustees, will go into effect at Indiana University of Pennsylvania this fall.

The new structure utilizes six vice-presidents who will head the major divisions of the institution academic student affairs, university services, administrative, financial affairs and development. All university operations, with the exception of employee relations and institutional research, will function under the direction of the vice presidents. The two, headed by Mr John Felice and Dr Robert Woodard, respectively will report directly to the president.

Named to the vice president posts are Dr Bernard T Gillis, vice president for academic affairs and university provost Dr S Trevor Hadley, vice president for student affiars, Mr Robert O Warren, vice president for university services, Mr Bernard J Ganley, administrative vice president, Dr George W Murdoch, financial vice president, and Mr Isadore R Lenglet, vice president for university development.

Under Dr Gillis will be the deans of the eight Schools of the University, the dean of admissions, and the chairman of the military science department.

Included in student affairs will be the offices of associate dean of students, dean of men, dean of women, financial aid, housing, medical services, cultural affairs, career services, and the Student Cooperative Association.

University services will encompass the registrar's office, the computer center, printing and duplicatings, instructional resources, scheduling, summer conferences, the library, post office, and switchboard.

The administrative vice president's office will be concerned with purchasing and material management, personnel, security, and the physical plant facilities in general.

The financial vice president will be responsible for special projects and reports, payroll, budget, accounting, and audit activity.

The office of university development will include alumni affiars, public relations, fund raising, sponsored research— grants, University Foundation liason, and campus physical planning.

Dial-a-major

Many students consider changing their majors at least once prior to graduation and a substantial portion of this changing occurs in the student's freshman and sophomore years. Exploration and change of major is a common and, hopefully, constructive process for a large portion of the student population. Unfortunately, there is considerable support for the belief that many student decisions are made haphazardly because too often information is not available, is difficult to obtain, or is not available in a form useful to a student at the time he needs to make a choice. Students often base their decision about choice of major on misinformation from other students or other non-factual information. It is expected that the Information Access System On Undergraduate College Majors will reduce haphazard and ill-informed decision making of students by providing them with accurate, current, comprehensive, and uniform information about IUP college majors from a central and convenient source.

A system of tapes has been compiled and is available through the cooperative efforts of departmental representatives form the School of Arts and Sciences, the Department of Instructional Resources, and educators form the IUP Career Services Office.

Representatives from each department in the School of Arts and Sciences have prepared and read onto a tape a ten to twenty minute statement about their respective major. Topics covered on each tape include personal and academic requirements for success in a particular major, career options, and typical working conditions.

This system of tapes, developed by the IUP career counselors, is accessible to the University community in several ways. In the Career Services Office in Pratt Hall 302, students may listen to the tapes on cassettes, or even borrow a tape and tape player if necessary. Students may also listen to a tape using IUP's direct dial access system. To do this a student should use an on-campus telephone, dial 123, and then dial one of the three digit numbers listed below. Direct dial access is also available at the listening stations in Stabley Library and Davis Hall B18. Telephone numbers for the majors collected to date are listed below. additional tapes for the various majors in the School of Arts and Sciences are anticipated and will be publicized as they are prepared.

Don Slusser 51st In Marathon

By Jed Weisberger Sports Editor

Don Slusser, this week's Big Indian of the Week, must have run the longest race of any runner in IUP history. Slusser trotted 26 miles and 385 yards in the Boston Marathon last Monday and finished 51st out of over 1100 entrants. Don is a sophomore from Churchill High School and is in his second year as an IUP Track letterman. Slusser also has two letters in Cross-Country. 26 miles and 385 yards in 2 hours 37 minutes and 43 seconds; it looks as if Don Slusser should be credited with an IUP School Record in the Marathon.

Don first became interested in running in the Boston Marathon within the last year. Don states, "I hoped to train for a M[illegible] run in Pittsburgh [illegible] in the Bos[illegible] for year o[illegible] Coach Lou [illegible] from an [illegible] rgh and [illegible] ns. Coach Sutton watched the start anxiously from a treetop as he wanted to get a good view of his runner starting the in pack of 1100 men. The Coach then proceeded to the 10.4 mile point where he threw Don some Gatorade and later to the 17½ mile mark to catch his progress and finally to the start. "I had to drive all over turnpikes and back roads alike to [illegible]tch progress," stated Coach [illegible] "One had to be some nav[illegible]

What more can [illegible] any unknown singer hope for [illegible] from IUP on a Monday night?

Mary possesses a very potent and powerful voice. She has a Joni Mitchell/Judy Collins like voice when singing in a soft tone, but her voice is her own when ever she raises that tone. Her voice changes with the different moods of the songs leaving one listener with the feeling that the songs are hers. Only a few of the songs were Mary Smith's originals but the others were arranged in such a unique fashion that they might as well have been.

The Branch will be featuring Mary every night till [illegible]unday. Thursday night [illegible] be backed up by Zorro, [illegible]e versa. Dr. Hassler Gives New 70's Proposal Titled "Project 70's," Dr William W Hassler, University president, has undertaken a program to determine the role which Indiana University of Pennsylvania will play in the coming decade.

The task embodies three major steps (1) the clear and thoughtful formulation of Indiana"s objectives as a university, (2) a comprehensive self evaluation of the university's resources, weaknesses, and potential, and (3) approval of the finalized operational philosophy and proposed programs by appropriate university bodies

In making the announcement Dr Hassler poloted out that the malo purpose of the project is to reassess IUP's position as an emergiog universitv in order that it might fulfill with maximum effectiveoess its role durlog the 70's

Elaborating on the first step, Dr Hassler stated that studies recently conducted at over a hundred leading colleges and universities showed that the superior college "has a concept of where it is going" With this in mind, he explained, it is important that Indiana determine in which direction it wishes to guide its academic destiny

purpose of the self evaluation

This will require each department to assess its own strengths, weaknesses and goals for the purpose of formolating the role it feels it cao and should play during the 70's.

In turn, departmental programs will be screened and collated by the dean of each school in collaboration with the department chairmen and division coordinators

Following this, priorities will be established by the Dean of Academic Affairs, who will also supervise the integration of the programs among the various schools

After stage two has been completed (in approximately a year), programs developed will be submitted to the Academic Visions Committee for their review, so that the ultimate result will be an optimum concept of realistic goals, together with the programs to implement them

To provide a stimulus for the self-evaluatlog, the University has asked Dr. Maurice E. Troyer, Professor of Higher Education at Syracuse University, to address ... special meeting of the fac... Tuesday,

IUP Enrollment Again Tops 10,000

THE PENN – 1970

The fall semester enrollment at Indiana University of Pennsylvania is once again over the 10,000 mark, according to figures by C. Donald Seagren, Associate Registrar.

For the current academic year 10,347 students, an all time record number, officially registered. Included in this figure are full-time and part-time gratuate and under graduate students on the main campus and at centers in Armstrong County (Kittanning) and Punxsutawney.

Among the 8886 undergraduates, females outnumber males, 5006 to 3880.

The full-time undergrads on the main campus in Indiana total 8129, while Armstrong oumbers 512 and Punxsutawney accounts for 245.

On the undergraduate level the School of Education enrollment leads with a total of 4662 and the School of Arts and Sciences enrollment follows with a total of 2456. They are followed by Business, 1043, Fine Arts, 635, Home Economics, 607, and Health Services, 453.

2425 students. Westmoreland County follows with a total of 1101. Indiana County places third with 1017. All of the 67 counties in Pennsylvania are represented and out-of-state students number 70.

The new class of freshmen totaling 2261 was selected from 7353 applicants. Broken down this number represents 1039 males and 1222 females. Transfer stuants number 41 and returning students (those who had been enrolled prior to the prededing semester) total 112

Teaching Positions Scarce

Teaching positions at four-year colleges and universities are currently in very short supply, with only limited opportunities for employment likely in the immediate future. At the same time, however, a new, rapidly expanding market place for prospective teaching talent appears to be developing at the two-year community college level. Student Representatives Join Mathematics Department

Recently a very interesting addition has been made to Indiana's Math Department -student representation. As of this year, both graduate and undergraduate students at IUP have been chosen from each of the five math curriculum areas to represent their fellow students withlo the structure of the Math Department.

As with most things, there is a constant need for change and improvement. It is necessary for each department to provide its students with the most complete, well-rounded curriculum possible. In order to do this most effectively, the mathematics department has organized itself into five separate committees. Originating in these committees are the multitude of decisions concerning such vital areas as the creation of new courses, revision of old ones, and new course requirements.

The third group or participants to be chosen is the student representatives. These students become ooo-voting members of their respective committee. Those chosen this year as directors and student representatives respectively are as follows: Computer Science--Mr. Maple and Bruce Curlett; Elementary Math Education--Dr. Hennemann, graduate Judy Elleoberger, and an as yet unannounced undergraduate; Secondary Math Education--Dr. Hartman and Lloda Bathkay; Liberal Arts--Dr. Hoyt and Bonnie Miller; Graduate Committee--Dr. Angelo, Charles Briedel (working on M.S.), Judy Elleoberger(working on M. Ed.) and P. Maloney (working on M.Ed.). Besides being participants lo committee meetings, these studeots will also be invited to attend faculty meetings.

This five committee system may be cut down to four next year by the creatloo of a separate department for the preseot Computer Science section. This possibility is as yet a proposal, [illegible] It is hoped that it will soon [illegible]ome a reality.

President William Hassler, they extended IUP's invitation to host the 1973 meeting. The invitation was accepted, and Professor Elsen was elected secretary of the executive committee for 1972-73, while Professor McManmon was elected second vice president and chairman of the 1972-73 meeting.

Those attending the recent conference in Richmond represented departments of art, music, politics, literature, philosophy, political science, medicine and the physical sciences. They came from over twenty different institutions of higher education including West Virginia, Johns Hopkins, Temple, Penn State and Rutgers Universities, as well as the Universities of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Pittsburgh, Virginia, South Carolina, Delaware and the State University of New York.

Two well known scholars attending were James L. IUP Receives $70,000 Grant

(IUP. P. R. Office) - The National Science Foundation has announced the award of a grant for nearly $70,000 to Indiana University of Pennsylvania's physics department to support a summer institute to train 40 teachers of secondary physics in the "Project Physics" course and materials.

Under the grant, according to Dr. David M. Riban, an IUP physics professor and grant director, the University will act as the training center next summer for teachers from Pennsylvania, West Virginia and other adjoining states.

They will study "Project Physics," a course developed during the 1960s at Harvard University by a team of scientists, educators and historians of science, who designed it to present a historical and cultural introduction to physics with considerable variation in the work pursued by the students. As a result of this method, it

He said that Pennsylvania ranks second nationally in the production of secondary teachers of science and that Indiana ranks first in the state in the number of physics teachers produced. Over the past decade, he said, IUP has accounted for about one out of every 25 physics teachers certified in the United States, producing as much as 60 per cent of the state total in given years.

"Only two or three institutions in the country have produced comparable numbers of physics teachers over the last decade," he said.

Assisting Riban on the summer staff will be Dr. Jerry Eddy and Patrick McNamara of the physics department and Dr. Jack Lavenberg of the instructional resources department. Lenglet Announces Education Center To Be Built Construction of a $3.766 million Education Center at Indiana University of Pennsylvania will begin in the early summer of 1973, according to Isadore R. Lenglet, director of campus planning and development at IUP.

Lenglet said the project will go into the final design stages on April 19 and that land acquisition should begin in about nine months. Target date for occupancy is set for early 1975.

The four-story structure (five stories, including the basement) will be erected on a tract adjacent to Davis Hall, bounded by Maple Street, Twelfth Street, Paper Mill Avenue and Willow Street. The area is currently occupied by frame houses.

The General State Authority approved the construction project

The meeting scheduled by the PENN to organize a movement to get IUP more money has been scheduled for Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Pratt Lounge, 313 Pratt Hall. Any and all ideas are welcome.

"IUP President Dr. Hassler invites students to a rap session about the university's financial crisis Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Faculty Dining Room in basement of Foster Hall. Refreshments will be served."

IUP Offers Professional Growth Masters Degree

By Chuck Rhoades
Contributing Editor

Dr. GEORGE Wiley, Associate Dean of the Graduate School, spoke with the PENN last Friday about the new Master's Degree program approved recently by the University Senate and the Board of Trustees. The Professional Growth Master's Degree is an attempt to provide graduate students with an interdisciplinary program tailored to meet the needs of the individual student who has had experience in his field and who seeks institutional education in areas related to his profession.

DR. Wiley explained that the Professional Growth Degree is a program degree rather than a department degree. The programs are to be designed for the individual needs of each student, providing the graduate student with the opportunity to take courses in fields related to his profession. All requirements of the program are identical to those of a regular specialized degree. While the structure of the program is different, the student must fulfill the required number of credit hours, independent study requirements, and thesis.

In contrast to pres... Master's degree progra... the Professional Gro... Degree will structure ... program around ... individual allowing as m... programs as students ... experiences, interests, and situations of each student.

The new degree came about as the Graduate School's answer to the needs of graduate studeots who expressed concern about the lack of a program designed for individuals. Such a program, although novel to education in this country, is being instituted in many colleges throughout tha U.S. Arecent study done by the Educational Testing Service and 1,400 such non-traditional programs have been initiated in the U.S. in the past two years. Dr. Wiley stated that IUP's program should not be viewed as non-traditional, rather as something designed to meet existing needs.

The new program will not be implemented on a full-scale level for some time as many details and technical aspects will have to be considered. A special sub-committee of the Graduate

IUP: fight for funds

QPA changes are likely

After nearly six years of frustrating setbacks, it appears that great efforts to change IUP's grade averaging method may be rewarded. On the agenda for the Tuesday, December 4, 3:30 pm meeting of the University Senate is a recommendation of the Academic Procedures Committee to compute cumulative Quality Point Averages so that "the student who repeats a course will receive full credit in the Q.P.A computation for his best attempt-oot an average with the previous grade" as at present.

This \recommendatioa is based on a resolution passed unanimously and forwarded to Committee BI by the Student Government Association on October 8. This was S.G.A.'s fifth such formal proposal in which it was noted that "the student body has been unalterably opposed to the present quality point averaging policy since its announcement in March, 1968."

Since October 8, sixteen pages of typewritten testimony in support of this proposal have been submitted to Committee BI by S.G.A to expediate deliberations. Beauty pageants have long been a tradition in this country, a tradition that the Penn finds outdated and useless. One woman is selected for her beauty, talent and grace to represent a school, state, country or even the world. But what is she really representing? This one person cannot embody the best traits of womanhood, nor is she necessarily the most beautiful or talented woman in her community. This is the hypocrisy of beauty pageants. Classical music showcase

If you've been listening to WIUP—FM Classical Music Showcase(CMS) lately, chances are that you've noticed a difference.

The program format is presently undergoing a change in order to direct the music choices more to personal taste. Each week centers on a particular theme or composer.

The initial show focused on contemporary composers ranging from Samuel Barber to Igor Stravinsky.

The new set—up hopes to attract listeners and to encourage audience participation by increasing phoned—in requests.

Streakers face Judicial Board

Kathy Lazzari
Staff Writer

Angry letters and telephone calls voicing complaints from Indiana residents have prompted the IUP Judicial Board to summon a number of students whose names are known for "streaking" or for throwing objects from residence hall windows. On Tuesday, March 19 and Thursday, March 21, five "streakers" and nineteen other students will appear to have their cases appealed to the Judicial Board.

Dr. S. Trevor Hadley, who serves as Chairman of the lawmaking body explained that they are obligated to process the incoming complaints against the streakers. His notice for disciplinary action appeared in Friday's edition of the Penn, following last Wednesday's episode in the Governor's Quad. During the evening Dr. Hadley strolled across the courtyard smiling and waving to students gathered [illegible] as they called [illegible] to join the stre[illegible] about, but adds that "It's one thing to streak on campus, quite another to streak somewhere else." Off campus streaking falls under the jurisdiction of town police, where community violations of indecent exposure may be charged.

The present disciplinary penalties that may be imposed by the University Judicial Board include letters to parents, counseling, campus work, restitution of property, room confinement, fines, social probation, separation, suspension, or disciplinary probation. Dr. Hadley cannot predict the outcome of the hearing, but as chairman he will be presiding over the meeting and may only vote in case of a tie.

The Judicial Board of IUP is formed to give both on and off campus residents a fair appeal and hearing, and Dr. Hadley states that this promise applies to the twenty-four students who will be appearing before the board on Tuesday and Thursday of next week. Perhaps the streaking fad will die out completely now that penalties may be imposed on its participants.

IUP enrollment swells

By PAULA OLSON
Staff Writer

There will be more new faces on campus this fall, more than the past three years. In '70, 1793 freshmen enrolled on campus. In '72, 1487. This fall enrollment figures will be around 1600, according to Dean of Admissions, Dr. Fred Dakak.

The Admissions office reviews, then approves or rejects thousands of student applications every year. The breakdown from EOP freshmen, transfer students, part-time and readmits must equal the number of students who dropped out, graduated, transferred or failed to return.

"If nothing changes in our predicted figures, we'll meet our quota this fall," says Dr. Dakak. Since President Hassler set a now because of two-year programs and community colleges, says Dr. Dakak, which helps balance out the decreasing freshman enrollment. Male enrollment is dropping because of the elimination of the draft and a general lack of interest in the college programs.

A future concern according to Dr. Dakak, is the proposed Commonwealth University Act, which would "eliminate the decision for individual campuses."

"Student applications would be channeled through Harrisburg

"There are parts of the University that have been trying to move forward academically and to pursue new and innovative ideas. While many have been frustrated in their efforts, others have been more successful."

Commonwealth University Act

Chances are very good that no one will ever graduate from Indiana University of Pennsylvania again. Two weeks ago a bill was introduced into the state legislature that, if passed, will radically change the direction and identity of this university.

The Commonwealth University Act of 1974 (Senate bill 1743) is a proposal whose purpose is to incorporate the 13 state owned colleges and IUP into one multi-campus -- the Pennsylvania Commonwealth University (PCU).

In an attempt to streamline the state college system, the Association of Pennsylvania State College and University Faculties (APSCUF), the faculty union, began drafting the bill last year.

Implementation of the Commonwealth University would involve drastic changes at IUP. The most obvious being the school's name. IUP would be known as the Pennsylvania Commonwealth University at Indiana--in a 14-campus university.

act in an advisory capacity.

A Council of Trustees of each institution, consisting of nine members appointed by the governor, would serve in an advisory capacity.

The Board of Regents would prescribe minimum standards for graduation from the University.

The PCU would receive a $250 thousand appropriation from the state. It would be established within the executive branch, independent of the Department of Education.
